"I was impressed by the enthusiasm, commitment and cooperation of the students. Such a valuable and successful experience!"
— participant, Irishish, 2016

Working with some of Northern Ireland's leading poets, in the beautiful setting of Queen's University. The week to include: expert advice, staff and student readings, one-to-one tutorials, workshops and more.....

This year sessions are being offered by our own poets, Ciaran Carson, Leontia Flynn, Paul Maddern, Emma Must and Stephen Connolly with Conor O'Callaghan (Sheffield Hallam University), along with Visiting Fulbright Fellow Tess Taylor and returning Fulbright Fellow Wayne Miller.

Places are limited to 12 and interested applicants should send a sample of their work (4 poems) to Gerry Hellawell, Seamus Heaney Centre for Poetry, School of English, Queen's University Belfast, BT7 1NN (g.hellawell@qub.ac.uk) by Friday 31 March, 2017 at the latest. Successful applicants (over 18s only) will be informed within the week. Submissions of work may be emailed or posted. The fee for the summer school is £600 (includes lunch and snacks).

Contact for Mrs Gerry Hellawell: Email at g.hellawell@qub.ac.uk or telephone +44 (0)28 9097 1070.
