

INSTITUTE OF Irish Studies

Queen's University
Belfast

Irish Studies Seminar Series 2016-17

The 2016-17 Seminar Series showcases research in Irish topics from across the university. Seminars are at 4.30pm on Mondays, in the Irish Studies Seminar Room, 8 Fitzwilliam Street. Everyone welcome.

- 3 October Dominic Bryan (Anthropology): 'Flags, parades and carnivals: approaches to public space in Belfast'. This seminar will be followed by a drinks reception.
- 10 October Peter Gray (History) 'William Sharman Crawford and the dynamics of Ulster radicalism in the 1830s-50s'
- 17 October Erin Hinson (Irish Studies), 'Compounding identities: the production of artefacts within the UVF/RHC prison experience'
- 24 October Liam Kennedy (History) 'Writing Irish history in the shadow of the "Troubles"'
- 7 November Mark Phelan (Drama), 'The politics and performance of commemoration in Ireland'
- 14 November Conor Caldwell (English/Music), 'Beyond the Irish Song Project: Sounding out research in musicology'
- 21 November Richard English (Politics) 'Does terrorism work? The case of the Northern Ireland Troubles'
- 28 November Andrew Holmes (History), 'Union, Presbyterians, and Ulster Scots?'
- 5 December Elena Bergia (Anthropology) 'The trouble with women: gender and conflict in nationalist West Belfast'

Institute of Irish Studies, QUB, 6-8 Fitzwilliam St, Belfast

Email irish.studies@qub.ac.uk

<https://www.qub.ac.uk/schools/IrishStudiesGateway/>