Launch of MyFuture

In September we launched 'MyFuture' our new career management system. The system is a big step forward for Queen's and offers an enhanced service for both students and employers. Crucially, every student at the university is automatically registered on the system which means we now have an effective communication channel with all students that employers can benefit from.

The launch has been a success with over 60,000 student visits generating in excess of a million page views.

We would urge all employers to register with MyFuture at their earliest convenience. All employers have a profile page and can upload vacancies including graduate jobs, internships and placements. You will then be able to benefit from: Online collation of CVs, online booking of events and careers fairs, targeted emails to students & access to student viewing statistics.

A key feature of MyFuture is the ability to send to targeted emails on behalf of employers. We can now send target emails to specific groups of students (on the basis of subject and year group) in either html or plain text format. Not only that, we will also then send you a report outlining the response to your email from students. There is a minimal charge for this service of £50/school/year group.

Register with my future and upload your vacancies and events at www.qub.ac.uk/RecruitOurStudents

Launch of the Santander SME Internship Programme

SME Internship Programme Now Open

This month we are launching our 2015 Queen's University Santander Internship Programme for small to medium sized businesses (SME's). The Programme provides matched financial support for qualifying SME's offering a graduate level internship of at least 3 months to our students or recent graduates. The programme is open to all types of industries and business sectors and Santander will contribute £1,500 per intern which must be at least matched by the SME.

Participating businesses will have an opportunity to broaden their talent pipeline whilst gaining access to the skills of an enthusiastic Queen's Intern who is keen to learn and make a contribution. Many students and graduates are keen to work for SMEs, believing they can make their mark more rapidly than may be the case in a large corporate. We are keen to work with you to make that happen.

For further information on the Santander Programme or other internship programmes at Queen's email internships@qub.ac.uk

Opening of the SGC Hub careers venue

September 2014 saw the opening of the SGC Hub as the new entrance for the Student Guidance Centre (SGC) with dedicated areas for hosting employer presentations, workshops and skills sessions.

This new careers specific venue is split into two areas one large presentation area which can hold up to 150 either in a lecture or cabaret style and another smaller area for more intimate 1:1 sessions or workshops. Both areas are fitted out with free wifi, projector, laptop provision, microphones as well as potential use of the Queens catering services.

The opening of the SGC Hub in the first semester was a huge success with over 40 events taking place including presentations/workshops from companies such as PwC, Ulster Bank, CMS Cameron McKenna, Allstate and Enterprise Rent-a-Car. Both employers and students have agreed that the combination of a central location, the relaxed/social setting and the excellent facilities makes the new venue a perfect place for the two parties to meet.

Thanks for supporting the Graduate Recruitment & Placement Fair 2014

The Graduate Recruitment & Placement Fair took place in October 2014 over three days and included Business & Finance; Engineering, Science & Technology; and Law & Legal Related Roles. The event, sponsored by EY, was a huge success with a record number of over 200 exhibitors and 3000 students attending over the three days.

Our next fair, the Work Experience and Placement Fair will take place on 11 February with an expected number of just over 50 exhibitors. The last fair of the academic year is the Northern Ireland Graduate Recruitment Fair, organised in partnership with Ulster University, will take place on 9 June.

For further information on attending fairs please contact Elaine McMahon on 028 9097 3950 or email e.mcmahon@qub.ac.uk
