

Global Food Venture

A unique entrepreneurship, mobility program for food & agtech start-ups from PhD students across Europe

Application phase is now OPEN!

We're excited to announce that

EIT Food's Global Food Venture (GFV) programme will support 30 highly-innovative PhD students from across Europe to turn their research into Successful business concepts in the food & agtech space

Participants will expand their business knowledge through a tailored thematic curriculum, leverage the expertise of EIT Food corporate partners and gain insight into two key international innovation ecosystems, Israel & the Silicon Valley!

The program is suitable for early stage (pre-seed) food & agtech start-ups founded or co-led by a current PhD student

Some of the benefits

- 9-month one-to-one mentoring
- Bootcamp at TU Munich
- International visits to two key innovation ecosystems, Israel and the Silicon Valley
- Pitching at the food & agtech conference in Europe with a best start-up award

Are you ready to embark on a new and challenging venture?

Find out more & apply at: www.eitfood.eu/our-activities