CRIMINOLOGY

The BA (Hons) Criminology provides a unique vantage point to study crime and justice in a society transitioning from conflict. Criminologists are interested in how activities come to be defined as ‘criminal’, and why definitions and responses to crime vary over time and place. The subject includes a broad range of perspectives on understanding crime and criminal behaviour and examines various methods in the prevention, policing and punishment of crime. The course also considers how and why people move away from crime, ways in which this might be facilitated and offenders reintegrated.

An IELTS score of 6.5 with a minimum of 5.5 in each test component or an equivalent acceptable qualification, details of which are available at: go.qub.ac.uk/EnglishLanguageReqs

Facilities

The School is located within a recently renovated building, with state-of-the-art teaching and learning facilities, together with dedicated student space including a large student common room. The teaching facilities enable an interactive learning environment.

CAREERS/FURTHER STUDY

The diversity of interests and topics covered in the discipline, plus the wide range of skills it equips you with, means that our students enter a wide range of careers on graduation. Public and private sector organisations involved in the criminal justice system continue to expand and the demand for criminology graduates is strong. The number and variety of career opportunities related to the criminal justice system has increased in recent years.

As well as the traditional criminal justice agencies such as the police, probation service and the prison service, criminology graduates work in a range of occupations, including the media, Civil Service, research, teaching, business, voluntary organisations and management. Criminology graduates also work in victim support organisations and in other social care agencies. Some graduates build on the degree by undertaking further study or training in fields such as policing, probation work, prison service, social work, law, human rights, social science research and teaching. The School has a strong postgraduate programme, offering both Master’s and PhD degrees.

Studying for a Criminology degree at Queen’s will assist you in developing the core skills and employment-related experiences that are valued by employers, professional organisations and academic institutions. Graduates from this degree at Queen’s are well regarded by many employers (local, national and international) and over half of all graduate jobs are now open to graduates of any discipline.

Typical career destinations of graduates include:

- Researcher
- Civil Servant
- Policy Analyst
- Charity Fundraiser
- Market Researcher
- Youth and Community Worker

Graduate employers include:

- Northern Ireland Civil Service
- Northern Ireland Housing Executive
- National Health Service
- Northern Ireland Statistics and Research Agency
- PwC
- Ulster Bank
- Santander
- Belfast City Council
- Ipsos MORI
- Commission for Victims and Survivors NI

“I loved my time at Queen’s, I would do it all over again if I could. My Criminology degree was literally the most interesting thing I have ever done. I learned so much about crime, in Northern Ireland especially, because I am English so I didn’t know about it to start with. Third year I loved how you get to choose what you want to learn more about and what you want to go into further depth.”

CRIMINOLOGY AND SOCIAL POLICY

Criminology focuses on the causes and consequences of crime, as well as how the criminal justice system responds to crime. Criminologists are interested in how activities come to be defined as criminal, and why definitions of crime vary across countries and over time. The subject includes a wide range of social and psychological theories that attempt to explain criminal behaviour and the effective operation of the criminal justice system.

Social Policy students learn how to tackle major policy problems. They do this by applying core concepts from social science to intractable social problems such as gender inequality, eldercare, children's rights and climate change. There is strong crossover between criminology and social policy as many of the people who end up within the criminal justice system have experienced poverty, inequality or discrimination. As an applied and critical social science, you will gain knowledge and understanding of contemporary government policies, their impacts, and consider how we can achieve improvements.

Sociology is a scientific discipline concerned with the explanation of social life and human behaviour of all kinds. It equips students with the skills to understand the breadth of social practice, ranging from the global (including power and politics, conflict and peace processes, security, the digital world, climate change, racism and social justice) to individual experiences (such as the body, intimacy, emotions, identity, beliefs and mental health). Sociology and Social Policy make a great joint degree because sociology provides core concepts which are then used to make social policies that reduce poverty, inequality and discrimination.

Drawing on multidisciplinary ideas from politics, sociology, economics and law, this course helps create highly relevant and versatile graduates with the ability to enter employment at local, national and international levels.

"Social Policy offers a unique insight into various realms of social life, such as the family, the judicial system and the health care system. Not only did this subject enable me to understand how these social realms are interconnected, it opened my eyes to the impact they have on the trajectory of my own life, such as how my income will impact on my health outcomes. I was taught by academics who are truly passionate about their field and who set coursework which was exceptionally varied and designed with employability skills in mind."

SOCIAL WORK

The Bachelor of Social Work (BSW) degree is a recognised professional Social Work qualification, which is taught through academic study and practice learning. Practice learning opportunities are regionally allocated in collaboration with Northern Ireland Degree in Social Work Partnership and a variety of social work agencies (i.e. Health and Social Care Trusts, voluntary sector, criminal justice, education authority). Practice learning involves working full-time hours in a social work agency (85 days at Level 2, and 100 days at Level 3), which is supervised and assessed by a qualified Practice Teacher, employed by the agency. The course offers graduates a generic qualification to practice as a Social Worker with a range of service user groups in different settings and agencies.

COURSE CONTENT

Modules often draw on recent developments within policy, research and theory. The teaching is research-informed and uses international comparisons. Service user involvement permeates all the modules, through direct involvement, research findings or online or audio/visual resources.

CAREERS/FURTHER STUDY

Studying for a social work degree at Queen's will assist you in developing the core skills, knowledge and values valued by employers, professional organisations and academic institutions. Queen's is currently ranked joint 2nd in the UK for career prospects for Social Work according to the Guardian University Guide (2019).

Employment after the Course

Queen's graduates are well regarded by many Social Work employers (statutory and voluntary). According to data provided by the Social Care Council, 80% of Social Work graduates are registered for their Assessed Year in Employment (AYE) within 6 months of graduation.

For information on the Assessed Year in Employment see niscc.info/assessed-year-inemployment-aye

For employment opportunities in the statutory sector in Northern Ireland see <https://jobs.hscni.net>

For registration as a Social Worker in the Republic of Ireland see <https://www.coru.ie/about-us/registration-boards/social-workers-registration-board>

Employers

Social workers are employed throughout the statutory and voluntary/third sector social work agencies. There are opportunities for career progression into specialist posts or various levels of management.

You should also take a look at prospects.ac.uk and niscc.info for further information concerning the types of jobs that attract social work graduates.

The typical starting salary of Social Work graduates is £22,000 (based on the Agenda for Change Pay scale for Band 5), increasing to £28,000 (Band 6) upon completion of the Assessed Year in Employment.

Further Study

Further study is also an option open to social work graduates. Students can choose from a wide range of Master's and PhD programmes, as well as a comprehensive list of postgraduate courses.

“The degree equips students with the knowledge, values and skills required for effective social work practice. We have developed important partnerships with service user and carer organisations across Northern Ireland who assist us in these important aspects of teaching. At a very early stage in the course, students visit these groups in their own community settings as part of their teaching on the real meaning of social work values.”

Sociology is a scientific discipline concerned with the explanation of social life and human behaviour of all kinds. It equips students with the skills to understand the breadth of social practice, ranging from the global (including power and politics, conflict and peace processes, security, the digital world, climate change, racism and social justice) to individual experiences (such as the body, intimacy, emotions, identity, beliefs and mental health). Through theoretical tools and methodological techniques, Sociology at Queen's provides students with a unique way of interacting with the world as critical and engaged citizens.

COURSE CONTENT

The Sociology team's diverse research interests translate into an exciting and dynamic programme, with opportunities to study a range of subjects, such as:

- Intimacy, families and gender
- Conflict, deviance, violence and peace building
- Emotions and Politics, from Trump to Brexit
- Environmental security
- Ethnicity, race and racism
- Health, illness and care
- Inequalities, poverty and social exclusion
- Religion and extremism
- Research methods and data skills (quantitative and qualitative)

Stage 1

In first year, you will learn to think sociologically and explore the sociological imagination using up-to-date research, from studies on Facebook to romance and dating. Our key module Digital Society allows students to critically reflect on the role of technology in our daily lives, from surveillance to 'Big Data'.

Core Modules

- Rethinking Sociology
- The Sociological Imagination
- Digital Society

Optional Modules

- Introducing Criminology
- Exploring Criminology
- Visualising the Social World
- Introducing Social Policy
- Themes and Issues in Social Policy
- Comparative Politics
- Issues in Contemporary Politics

Stage 2

In second year, you will be introduced to classical and contemporary theories, and develop proficiency in quantitative and qualitative research methods. You will gain skills in using the most widely used software, for example, SPSS and NVivo. We take advantage of ARK, a key resource situated in the School, and use their wide range of attitudinal surveys, often commissioned by government and key NI organisations. This allows students to apply their research skills training to contemporary issues, using the latest survey data.

Core Modules

- The Power of Social Theory
- Quantitative Research Skills
- Social Inequalities and Diversity
- Qualitative Research Skills

Optional Modules

- Northern Ireland: Conflict, Identity, Peace
- Welfare in Theory and Practice
- Environmental Crime and Justice
- Questions for an Ageing World
- Theory Counts
- Gender and Migration
- Sociology of Conflict and Peace

Stage 3

In final year, students design and undertake their own research project, under the guidance of a dedicated supervisor. This allows students to develop their own research question on a topic of their own selection, building on their studies. We encourage students to partner with community organisations to ensure that their research has direct and often immediate impact, where it is needed. As well as the development of specialist subject knowledge, the final year

WHY QUEEN'S?

Personal Tutor

You will be assigned a personal tutor during induction. This member of academic staff will provide one-to-one support and mentoring throughout your studies at Queen's.

Study Abroad

We have a solid tradition of students undertaking Study Abroad through Erasmus schemes (with universities in Barcelona, Lünd in Sweden, Paris and Aix en Provence in France, Munich and Dusseldorf in Germany, Rotterdam and Nijmegen in the Netherlands, Jyvaskyla in Finland).

Prizes

The Lockheed Prizes are awarded annually to students for the Bachelor of Arts degrees taking Single, Major or Joint subjects in Sociology, Social Policy and Social Work.

Research-led Teaching

Sociology is taught by a group of internationally recognised sociologists who specialise in areas such as family, childhood, religion and conflict.

CAREERS/FURTHER STUDY

Your degree in Sociology will equip you with a range of transferable skills that are highly sought in a wide variety of fields in the contemporary jobs market. Sociology graduates are found in a range of occupations, including management, communication, marketing, sales, retail, journalism, media research and publishing, youth and community work, charities and the voluntary sector, healthcare, social and civil services, and education. Sociology is also a good fit for a variety of careers in business: it develops the ability to gather and evaluate evidence; to engage in critical analysis; and to understand and explain complex problems and situations.

Our graduates have worked for organisations beyond and within Northern Ireland, such as:

- Northern Ireland Statistics and Research Agency (NISRA)
- Belfast Child
- Johnsons Solicitors
- PricewaterhouseCoopers
- Lloyds Banking Group
- Barnardos
- Northern Ireland Housing Executive

“My Sociology degree opened my eyes about the world. I now question everything and my curiosity has grown! It has helped in my current job as I developed my analytical and problem-solving skills, which are essential for the workplace.”

Anna Savage

A RUSSELL GROUP UNIVERSITY

As a member of the Russell Group, we are one of the UK's 24 leading universities, providing our students with a world-class education underpinned by world-class research. Queen's researchers work closely with more than 250 universities around the world.

RESEARCH AND TEACHING EXCELLENCE

Our teaching quality is recognised as being of the highest standard. Queen's students are taught by academics who are informed by the latest discoveries in their fields. The University has won five Queen's Anniversary Prizes for Further and Higher Education, for world-class achievement in green chemistry, environmental research, palaeoecology, law and for Northern Ireland's Comprehensive Cancer Services (CCS) programme. The latest UK Research Excellence Framework 2014 revealed that all academic areas at Queen's have research assessed as 'world leading', and the University's research strengths are reflected in the quality of our teaching.

WORLD-CLASS CAMPUS

Queen's has one of the most modern campuses in the UK, including the award winning McClay Library, one of the finest libraries in the world and home to 1.2 million volumes and 2,000 reader places. Other highlights include our new-look Students' Union, the state-of-the-art Physical Education Centre – used as a training camp for the 2012 Olympics. Queen's Elms Student Village or the brand new city centre accommodation Elms BT1 and Elms BT2 are located within easy walking distance of the University.

ABOUT BELFAST AND NORTHERN IRELAND

Belfast itself is a fun city on the current 'Must See' destination lists. It is also the safest region in the UK (British Crime Survey 2015/16). Awash with enthusiasm, culture and that famous Irish friendliness, students can also explore:

- Game of Thrones' film location and activity tours.
- Beautiful scenery and outdoor adventures such as the Giant's Causeway or hiking in the Mourne Mountains.
- Titanic Belfast is the World's Best Visitor Attraction (World Travel Awards 2016).
- Great entertainment and nights out; a buzzing arts and social scene from festivals, theatre and international events to historic pubs, stylish bars and brilliant shopping.
- Northern Ireland: happiest place in the UK (Office of National Statistics 2016) alongside the most affordable for students (NatWest Student Living Index 2019).
- The rest of the UK, Ireland and Europe with accessible airport and transport links to most major cities.
