

Professor Cherie Armour

Professor of Psychological Trauma and Mental Health, School of Psychology

I joined Queen's in July 2019 as Professor of Psychological Trauma and Mental Health. Previously, I was Professor of Psychology and Associate Dean for Research and Impact at Ulster University. I developed and directed UU's Institute of Mental Health Sciences. I am the President of a national organisation (UK Psychological Trauma Society) and sit on European and international boards. I have previously developed strategies, business plans and associated key performance indicators. I have participated in accountability panels for senior officers. I believe improved performance is achieved through encouragement and reward. I have the capacity and motivation to dedicate to Senate.
