

Concordat to Support the Career Development of Researchers

HR Excellence in Research 8 Year External Review

Updated Implementation Action Plan: January 2020

The Seven Principles of the Concordat

A. Recruitment and Selection

Principle 1

Recognition of the importance of recruiting, selecting and retaining researchers with the highest potential to achieve excellence in research.

B. Recognition and Value

Principle 2

Researchers are recognised and valued by their employing organisation as an essential part of their organisation's human resources, and a key component of their overall strategy to develop and deliver world-class research.

C. Support and Career Development

Principle 3

Researchers are equipped and supported to be adaptable and flexible in an increasingly diverse, mobile, global research environment.

Principle 4

The importance of researchers' personal and career development, and lifelong learning, is clearly recognised at all stages of their career.

D. Researchers' Responsibilities

Principle 5

Individual researchers share the responsibility for, and need to pro-actively engage in, their own personal and career development and lifelong learning.

E. Diversity and Equality

Principle 6

Diversity and equality must be promoted in all aspects of the recruitment and career management of researchers.

F. Implementation and Review

Principle 7

The sector and all stakeholders will undertake regular and collective review of their progress in strengthening the attractiveness and sustainability of research careers in the UK.

The actions below have been developed to enhance the skills and career development of research staff.

1.0 Communication and consultation

December 2019 update

OD and Faculties have collaborated to create and implement faculty-based initiatives to support the development and management of research staff.

The Faculty of Engineering and Physical Sciences has an active Postdoc Society, launched in September 2019, which has created a series of actions and initiatives. The committee, which meets every 4-6 weeks, has twelve members, representative of the Faculty schools, including Dr Gemma Catney as academic lead for postdocs in the Faculty. It has organised a number of activities since the September launch and networking event including: Postdoctoral Research Funding Opportunities and Rights in the Context of Brexit, Gaining your Independent Fellowship event and a Christmas Quiz and social event. A twitter account has also been created https://twitter.com/QUBpostdocsEPS. In the Faculty of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences a Research Staff Society has been established, again organising a series of activities for research staff, with a combination of research, career and social focused activities. This group is smaller, three members, reflecting the research staff population in AHSS and is currently developing a strategy for 2020. The Faculty of Medicine, Health and Life Sciences has a well-established Postdoc Society and since 2017 a Postdoc Development Centre that delivers a comprehensive range of activities, primarily for MHLS postdocs but also available to other researchers when appropriate.

The MHLS Postdoc Development Centre was established in 2017, with one full-time member of staff, and provides tailored support for MHLS postdocs. This includes 1-2-1 career development support and the organisation of events and workshop. The PDC also inputs to research staff related policies, e.g. assistant supervisory role for research staff, 10 days L&D policy etc.

December 2019 update

As the University was conducting an all-staff survey in March 2019, Queen's did not participate in CROS and PIRLS 2019. A set of results from research staff have been provided to CIRG, which will assist in the development of the updated action plan. The response rate for research staff was 41%, compared to 64% overall. A future action is to increase the response rate for research staff and highlight the 'continuous listening approach' to be adopted which may include shorter targeted surveys on specific topics. Key results of the 2019 survey are included in the progress report. In addition, central and local action plans which address some of the key issues identified via staff survey will be communicated to all staff.

December 2019 update

The Career Consultant (Researcher Development) post was relocated full-time to the Graduate School in September 2018.

Support continues to be provided for Research Staff via a new Developing Your Research Career programme. This provides a series of elements to guide and advise research staff – including: career exploration; cv writing; preparing for interviews; career consultation meetings with a careers coach. 24 staff accessed the programme in June 2019 and October 2019. The programme will be delivered twice per year.

Research staff in the Faculty of MHLS can access career support interviews on an ongoing basis, and OD provide limited individual support for research staff on professional and career development.

2.4 Analysis of feedback collected by new online evaluation forms, to inform programme/workshop development.      December 2019 update	Summary report produced and actions agreed.	P&C-OD/CIRG	September 2018

In 2018-19 a total of 571 research staff attended centrally organised OD staff development workshops, which is a 28% increase on the 2017-18 attendance.

The new MHLS PDC has organised a series of events creating further L&D opportunities for research staff, with 145 attendances in 2018 and 208 attendances in 2019. Research Staff in the Faculties of AHSS and EPS have access to events organised by their new research staff/postdoc societies.

R&E delivered a wide range of funding and impact related workshops and events for early career researchers, with 346 staff attending from September 2018 and to date.

Engagement report produced and discussed with PVCR and senior managers in Faculties to assist in planning. All staff have increasing access to online learning, including the Vitae website resources (384 registered users), Nature Masterclasses Online (224 registered users) and 50 research staff participated in a trial of LinkedIn Learning during 2019. Positive feedback was received and this online resource is now available to all staff. The trial was evaluated in March 2019, with 72 responses (10 were researchers).

The following responses were received:

- Did the resource improve your knowledge (in the topics/areas you used)? Yes 96% overall, Researchers 100%
- Did the resource improve your skills (in the topics/areas you used)? Yes 94% overall, Researcher 100%
- Of those 10 Researchers, 100% would recommend to other staff, overall response 96%

Researcher comments:

- o 'It is an exceptional tool with a very wide range of training options that complement perfectly the options currently available through Queen's services.'
- o 'A valuable tool to improve learning as per personal choice of individual.'
- o 'It can be very useful in case someone needs a fast introduction into the new topics'.

An online Writing for Academic Publication programme has been offered twice to research staff, with a total of 31 participants completing this course between March 2018 and November 2019. Feedback from participants indicated that they worked on and completed a journal article ready for submission, with the course acting as a motivator and guide to complete the articles. Staff also have access to the online Professional Skills for Research Leaders Programme.
