

MS41 Branagh Collection

About the collection:

Background: The Sir Kenneth Branagh Archive originated in a substantial bequest to Queen's University from Sir Kenneth Branagh in 2000. The original bequests have been supplemented by donations from other sources, including commercial bodies (such as Naxos), charitable organisations (such as the Ulster Association of Youth Drama) and individuals (such as Mark Thornton Burnett, Sarah Hatchuel and Jude Tessel).

Overview: The Archive consists of material relating to the professional life and work of Sir Kenneth Branagh. It is largely made up of paper documents (many are photocopies), but also holds recordings and merchandise related to individual productions. Original items (i.e. not photocopies) are marked as such in the listing.

The Branagh Archive is an open collection, so periodically items will be added – from 2006 onwards the date items were added is noted.

Arrangement: The material is arranged in 7 main headings: Theatre, Television, Film, Radio/Audio, General, Recordings and Oversized Material. Where material relating to a production allows, it is arranged by the type of material: Production Material, Publicity Material, Press/Reviews/Criticism, Publications and Merchandise.

The General heading lists material which does not relate to any specific production (i.e. profiles and general biographical material). It also includes material relating to organisations with which Sir Kenneth Branagh is associated (Shakespeare Birthplace Trust and the Ulster Youth Theatre).

The Recordings heading lists official releases of films, television work and radio, but also unofficial copies. In addition, it also contains recordings of television and radio interviews with Sir Kenneth Branagh.

Finally, the Oversized Material heading lists materials which for reason of storage are held together.

Strengths: The holdings relating to Branagh's films as director/writer (Henry V, Dead Again, Peter's Friends, Much Ado About Nothing, Mary Shelley's Frankenstein, In The Bleak Midwinter, Othello, Hamlet and Love's Labour's Lost) contain very comprehensive press and critical reaction. For some of these productions the archive also holds detailed production information (storyboards, scripts etc.).

The archive spans 25m of shelves and fills over 30 archive boxes. It represents an unparalleled collection relating to the work of Sir Kenneth Branagh.

This listing was originally compiled by Clare McVeigh. It was updated and revised by Diarmuid Kennedy in 2006, 2008, 2009, 2010 & 2011. (DK 15/12/2011)

It was updated and revised in 2018 by Conor Kerr.
