Networking . . . . .

At careers information and recruitment events it is tempting to lift brochures and do little else. While it is important to make use of brochures and written information, take time to talk to the representatives – they are an invaluable source of information for you.

Preparation . . . . .

It will be useful for you to ask representatives questions about areas such as

- Training and development, early years and beyond, professional qualification route, new legal professional roles
- The skills required to do the job well
- What makes a strong application?
- What are recruiters looking for at interview?

By asking questions and reading the literature you should begin to build up a profile of what the job entails, what skills and qualities are sought by recruiters and importantly how you can provide evidence that you match these requirements.

Keep up-to-date . . . . .

Our Summer Intern Programme (SIP) forms an integral part of the Firm's resourcing strategy. Its importance is evidenced by the resources we dedicate to it throughout the Firm. In Belfast, we offer week long internships during June, July and August and we see the programme as an opportunity for you to learn from our legal professionals and for us to identify potential. The SIP is run by our Belfast Trainee & Intern Programme Manager and supported by our HR and Learning and Development departments. The Manager oversees the day-to-day running of the SIP and will liaise directly with you on a daily basis to ensure that your internship runs smoothly from beginning to end and that you get the most from your experience.

A&L Goodbody Northern Ireland will be hosting an Open Night for potential trainees to come and speak directly with us about our training contracts and careers opportunities, to hear first-hand from our partners and current trainees what it is like to work for an international corporate law firm and the advantages of our training programme.

At Allen & Overy we recognise that choosing the right career is a big decision. There will be lots of questions you need to ask yourself: What type of law do I want to practice? What type of firm would suit me best? What will the work really be like?

We think the best way to answer these questions is to get first-hand experience of life in a law firm and that’s exactly what our vacation schemes offer.

And, a quick way to get a feel for the type of work we do at Allen & Overy, and the way we do it, is to come in and spend time with us on an Open Day.

The Army is recruiting. If you want a career that offers challenge and adventure, then a career in the Army could be right for you.

FINAL YEAR OPPORTUNITIES

Whether you’re commanding soldiers on a training exercise in Kenya or organizing an adventurous training expedition in Arizona, you’ll find life as an Army officer is far from routine.

Training starts at The Royal Military Academy Sandhurst where you’ll learn all aspects of soldiering alongside transferable management, leadership and communication skills. Once commissioned as an Army officer, you’ll join your chosen Regiment or Corps for specialist training before taking command of around 30 soldiers.

Fitness advice and gym facilities are free and you’ll be encouraged to play sports and partake in adventurous training. Other benefits include free medical and dental care, plus 30 days leave on top of public holidays.

If you’re already qualified in certain professions including doctors, dentists, nurses, lawyers, pharmacists, physiotherapists, vets and chaplains, then you could join as a Professionally Qualified Officer in a higher rank with higher pay.

Alternatively, why not join in your spare time? You’ll gain valuable experience to take back to your civilian life and you’ll get paid for training in your spare time.

This year, the Army has over 700 Regular officer and 400 spare time officer vacancies available.

If you’re interested, search ‘Army jobs’ to find out more.

Arthur Cox is a multi-award winning law firm with offices in Belfast, Dublin, London, New York and Silicon Valley. We have a total headcount of more than 500 staff servicing an enviable international and domestic client base.

TRAINING CONTRACT OPPORTUNITIES

We offer a number of training contract positions in our Belfast office each year. We do not fix that number in advance, but instead respond to quality of applications that we receive and match this to the opportunities that exist at that time. This means that we recruit with a long term view for our trainees. It is this approach, together with our ability to quickly adapt to changing market conditions that sets us apart from our competitors. We regard our vibrant, friendly trainee culture as one of our most valuable assets. This culture is a reflection of our commitment to offer our trainees a long term career in law.

VACATION PLACEMENT and OPEN DAY OPPORTUNITIES

We offer vacation placements each year in the Belfast office, this number is not fixed. It is our belief that any placement should offer students a genuine opportunity to get involved, to feel responsible and to learn something new. It is for this reason that our placements are highly sought after in the market.

We run an open evening each year, in mid-February and use this event to introduce potential applicants to the existing trainees, associate solicitors and partners.

Baker & McKenzie is a leading global law firm based in over 70 locations across 46 countries. With a presence in nearly all of the world's leading financial and commercial centres, our strategy is to provide the best combination of local legal and commercial knowledge, international expertise and resources.

TRAINING CONTRACT OPPORTUNITIES

The two-year training contract comprises of four six-month seats, which include a corporate and a contentious seat, usually within the firm’s highly regarded dispute resolution department, together with the possibility of a secondment abroad or with a client. During each seat you will have formal and informal reviews to discuss your progress and regular meetings to explore subsequent seat preferences.

Your training contract commences with a highly interactive and practical induction programme, which focuses on key skills including practical problem solving, presenting and the application of information technology. The firm’s training programmes include important components on management and other business skills, as well as seminars and workshops on key legal topics for each practice area. There is a Trainee Solicitor Liaison Committee, which acts as a forum for any new ideas or concerns which may occur during the training contract.

VACATION PLACEMENT OPPORTUNITIES

Vacation Scheme The firm's London vacation schemes provide a taste of what it is like to work for a global law firm in London. This year the firm has three intakes; one in the Spring for final year students and graduates and two in the Summer. The Summer scheme is open to law and non-law students in their penultimate year of study (or second or third year for those on a four year course). Each vacation scheme comprises two seats, giving you an opportunity to experience two of the firm's key practice areas. Throughout the vacation scheme, training is provided to familiarise you with some of Baker & McKenzie’s typical transactions and to help you develop key skills. They place great emphasis in involving you in "live" work. You will be an integral part of the team and attend client and department meetings as well as court hearings. Expect plenty of social events, where you can hear more about the firm and meet partners, associates and trainees.

International Vacation Scheme The firm's international vacation scheme provides exposure to all the great things you can expect from working in their London office, whilst also providing an excellent opportunity to experience first-hand what it is like living and working in another jurisdiction and culture. Each international vacation scheme lasts between six to 12 weeks, divided equally between London and one of Baker & McKenzie’s international offices. Recent locations have included Hong Kong, Sydney, New York, Chicago and Singapore. The international vacation scheme is open to penultimate year law students only.

Berwin Leighton Paisner is an international, full service law firm with over 850 lawyers, including 200 partners, based across ten global offices. In addition to talented individuals with brilliant minds and bright attitudes, we are looking for people who can take complex, often pressurised, commercial situations in their stride. We run 5 Vacation schemes each year and have 40 – 45 Training Contract vacancies per annum.

TRAINING CONTRACT OPPORTUNITIES

We expect our trainees to shape the long-term future of our firm and we will invest heavily in helping you to fulfil your potential. Central to that is the quality of our training.

Before you start - Giving you the best possible start to your career starts long before your first day at work. Designed to bridge the gap between life as a student and life as a trainee solicitor, BLP provides a tailor-made legal practice course that we call LPC+. The first law firm to put together such a bespoke course for our trainees, it is a year long course run in conjunction with the University of Law, Moorgate, London. A comprehensive programme of events throughout the year provide technical legal skills and other business skills sessions, led both by lawyers and in-house training consultants.

When you start - During the two year training contract you will work on real projects from the outset, rotating through four six-month 'seats' in different parts of the business. You might, for example, complete a client or international secondment, run your own real estate file and attend a tribunal. You will receive in-depth department training at the beginning and during each of those four seats, which will give you the legal “know-how” needed to get stuck in to that specific department. You will have an allocated partner mentor throughout, career support from a dedicated training team and can expect to receive 232 hours of training by the time you are a qualified lawyer.

VACATION PLACEMENT and OPEN DAY OPPORTUNITIES

Vacation schemes are an ideal opportunity to gain some first-hand experience of life at BLP, getting to know us better, obtaining a feel for the work that we do and our culture, before then being automatically considered for a training contract. During the scheme you will work alongside BLP trainees and lawyers on real deals and cases. A number of presentations, workshops and social events also provide an opportunity to put your questions directly to a wide range of BLP people.

We run a number of open days or evenings each year to help you assess whether you are suited to life as a City lawyer. These events are an excellent way to find out more about BLP, especially if you are looking to apply for a vacation scheme or training contract. The events enable you to see directly what BLP can offer and you will gain a feel for the firm and our culture directly from our people.

Cleaver Fulton Rankin

Cleaver Fulton Rankin is one of Northern Ireland’s leading corporate law firms combining over 100 years of heritage with an innovative approach. Our main practice areas are company and commercial law, corporate finance, litigation, property law, projects and private client services.

TRAINING CONTRACT OPPORTUNITIES

We recruit a minimum of 3 trainees each year and host an Open Evening in February prior to application to give you an opportunity to come along and find out a bit more about Cleaver Fulton Rankin and what we offer.

The firm presently has 6 Trainees, 3 due to qualify in 2013 and 3 due to qualify in 2014.

Departmental Training Structure
Each Trainee will have experience of the four main departmental seats where the Trainee will undertake a range of work within each of the four departments. This will be under the direct supervision of an experienced solicitor within each department but will involve working with a variety of solicitors at all levels.

Induction Programme
A general induction programme takes place at the beginning of September for each new intake of Trainees and this will be followed up by departmental induction as each Trainee joins a new department.

You'll work with experienced lawyers in one of our practice areas. You'll also have the support of a supervising lawyer and a trainee ‘buddy’ who you can turn to at any stage.

It’s a unique learning experience. We’ll expect you to ask questions, take notes and get involved. You’ll also have exceptional opportunities for networking and socialising. Make sure you make the most of them. You’ll receive a £350 per week salary. We’ll also give you full access to our facilities (including the swimming pool, restaurant and fitness centre). Most importantly, you could be taking your first step towards a Training Contract with us.

Open Days

We hold open days at our Canary Wharf offices in London throughout the year. They give you the chance to meet some of our exceptional people and experience our inspirational culture for yourself. You’ll get to see our offices and facilities. You’ll also meet our Graduate Recruitment team. It’s your chance to ask them about the application and assessment process.

LawCareers.Net tells you everything you need to know to begin your career in law whether you are looking for a training contract to become a solicitor or a pupillage to become a barrister or if you want to find out more about the paralegal or legal executive route.

The website www.LawCareers.Net (LC.N) is The Training Contract & Pupillage Handbook's online sister. The website is the most sophisticated resource available to tomorrow's lawyers today.

It is designed to offer a one-stop guide to joining the legal profession, and is relevant to candidates from their secondary education right up to the day they formally join the legal profession, and beyond.

On LC.N you can find vital information about what it means to be a lawyer, how to go about becoming one, where to apply and much more besides.
Join Linklaters and you become part of one of the world’s most prestigious law firms – a global network of exceptionally talented, highly motivated lawyers working as a team and learning from one another to fulfil our ambition of becoming the leading global law firm.

TRAINING CONTRACT OPPORTUNITIES

Linklaters recruits a diverse mix of the most talented graduates from a wide range of universities and backgrounds. Non-law graduates spend a conversion year at law school taking the Graduate Diploma in Law (GDL) and all graduates complete the Legal Practice Course (LPC) before starting their training contracts. The firm meets the cost of the GDL and the LPC and provides a maintenance grant for both. The training contract is structured around four six-month seats, designed to build your knowledge, experience and contacts in a broad range of practice areas and to equip you for your long-term career.

Founded in 1937, Mishcon de Reya is a London based law firm offering a wide range of legal services to companies and individuals. Our expertise covers five main areas: analysing risk, protection of assets, managing wealth, resolving disputes and building business.

TRAINING CONTRACT OPPORTUNITIES

Applications for our 2016 training contracts open on 1 October 2013 until 15 July 2014. All applications must be made via our online application form, which can be found on our website: www.mishcongraduates.com. There is no typical Mishcon de Reya applicant. However, applicants should have at least a 2:1 undergraduate degree and AAB at A-level (or equivalent).

Throughout the two year training contract, trainees gain experience, skills and knowledge from across the Firm in four six-month seats. These include both contentious and non-contentious work. Because of the relatively few training contracts offered, trainees can be exposed to high-quality work with early responsibility. Trainees are supported with a training and development programme and extensive internal training, in addition to the Professional Skills Course.

Here at Northumbria School of Law, we have a range of programmes and flexible modes of study to help you achieve your goal of becoming a successful legal professional.

POSTGRADUATE STUDY OPPORTUNITIES

We are a leading provider of the Graduate Diploma in Law (GDL) for non-law graduates looking to practise law and the Legal Practice Course (LPC) for aspiring solicitors.

We are also one of only six institutions outside of London to provide the Bar Professional Training Course (BPTC) and we offer an unrivalled range of Masters programmes via a flexible distance learning mode of study, designed for busy professionals or those with personal commitments.

Our innovative LLB (Hons)/M Law Exempting programme allows students to achieve a Qualifying Law Degree, a Masters and exemption from the Legal Practice Course. We are the only University in the UK to run the LLB (Hons)/M Law Exempting (Bar Professional Training Course) programme, an integrated Masters degree incorporating the Bar Professional Training Course. The School also provides a suite of Law+ programmes, a range of specialist law degrees designed to develop the knowledge and understanding of the inter-relationship between law and an additional area of study.

The School also has over 30 years' experience of teaching the LLB (Hons) on a part-time and open learning basis.

Queen's University Law Society was established in the 1930's, and broadly offers extra-curricular opportunities for Queen's students. In accomplishing this, the Society is responsible for hosting academic lectures and workshops, collaborating with the Careers, Employability and Skills to run careers orientated events, and offering a wide range of C.V enhancing activities. This year for the first time we now have an extensive careers committee who will be promoting all the great careers events and opportunities available to law students throughout the year.

The Law Society publication, 'The Verdict', offers students the opportunity to have written work published in a multi-award winning student magazine. Mooting is a key asset of any astute law student, and through the Law Society there is scope to hone your skills in weekly workshops, as well as partaking in various Inter-varsity and overseas mooting competitions. There is also a designated Charity Committee who conducts numerous events throughout the year, meaning the opportunity of undertaking charity work is ever present.

The Society also runs a comprehensive social calendar, with the goal of creating a collegiate atmosphere and offering its members the best university experience possible. So please get involved

Postgraduate programmes at Ulster include: Postgraduate Diploma in Legal Practice, LLM Human Rights and Transitional Justice, LLM Gender, Conflict and Human Rights, LLM in Clinical Legal Education and LLM Commercial Law

POSTGRADUATE STUDY OPPORTUNITIES

The Graduate School of Professional Legal Education offers law graduates the opportunity to qualify as solicitors through the Postgraduate Diploma in Professional Legal Practice (PGDPLP), an innovative model of solicitor education in Northern Ireland. The course builds on students' prior learning of law as an academic discipline and is designed to equip students with the range of practical skills that they will require to enter practice. There is therefore an emphasis on hands-on practical training so that students can experience exercising their skills in simulated professional settings at the Graduate School.

The Transitional Justice Institute (TJI) is an international research and teaching institute dedicated to examining how law and legal institutions assist the move from conflict to peace. The TJI, in conjunction with the School of Law at the University of Ulster, offers two postgraduate programmes: LLM in Human Rights Law and Transitional Justice and LLM Gender, Conflict and Human Rights - exciting and innovative programmes, taught by active researchers. The LLM Human Rights Law and Transitional Justice programme is delivered at both the Jordanstown and Magee campuses while the Gender, Conflict and Human Rights programme is delivered at Jordanstown campus. Both programmes are available on a full time and part time basis allowing you to have excellent choice in your location and duration of study.

The LLM in Clinical Legal Education has been developed by the School of Law to allow students to represent social security appellants and employment law claimants in real-life tribunal cases, whilst on placement or in the newly-created 'Ulster Law Clinic'. Students develop and deepen key practical and legal skills whilst advising and advocating on behalf of appellants/claimants. Organised around the concept of 'unmet legal need', the programme also requires students to reflect on access to justice issues, including public interest litigation, balancing academic enquiry with practice-based learning.

The LLM Commercial Law will enable students to develop legal skills highly relevant to legal practice in the areas of commercial and international commercial law. There is a strong emphasis on international elements of commercial law. Modules include, for example, International Product Liability law, Advanced Corporate Law and Governance and European Competition law.
