WELCOME

THE SCHOOL OF LAW

Professor Joan Loughrey
Head of School

At the School of Law at Queen's, we are committed to making a positive difference to society; locally, nationally and internationally. Our fantastic students are central to our mission. Their academic accomplishments are matched only by their enthusiasm to get involved in the School, University and local community, organising and making wide-ranging contributions to the vibrant clubs, societies and volunteering available at Queen's.

Students are taught by outstanding academics, whose research is often ground-breaking and at the forefront of their field. My colleagues regularly engage with policy-makers, legislators, third sector organisations, legal practitioners and wider society. Their research has a real world impact and importance, influencing the development of the law and public policy in areas as diverse as human rights, criminal justice, transitional justice, and commercial law.

The School has excellent relationships with employers in the legal profession and beyond. We partner with a wide range of legal sector organisations, who deliver programmes of real-world skills to all students and we are privileged to have a Judge in Residence programme through which a High Court Judge makes regular contributions with students to the wider academic life of the School. Our alumni community are spread across the globe and many are leaders in their chosen careers.

All of this happens in our home at the heart of Queen's beautiful and historic campus: a state-of-the-art Law building with superb teaching facilities, a moot court, study and social spaces.

The School is a member of the leading Russell Group of universities, and has been educating students for over 150 years. We are very proud of this heritage and the contribution we have made and continue to make to society. The School, the University and Belfast are a fantastic place to study Law. I very much look forward to welcoming you.

"I chose to study Law because I wanted a well-respected degree that would give me a solid foundation for my future career. I got that at Queen's but I got so much more too. The approach to teaching and learning was so engaging and went well beyond traditional lecturing. The interactive nature of lectures and tutorials brought the law to life and was truly inspiring. The wide range of compulsory and optional subjects allowed me to tailor my degree to my own interests and to discover new ones! The teaching quality was superb and the guidance and support of staff was second to none."

A RUSSELL GROUP UNIVERSITY

As a member of the Russell Group, we are one of the UK's 24 leading universities, providing our students with a world-class education underpinned by world-class research. Queen's researchers work closely with more than 250 universities around the world.

RESEARCH AND TEACHING EXCELLENCE

Our teaching quality is recognised as being of the highest standard. Queen's students are taught by academics who are informed by the latest discoveries in their fields. The University has won five Queen's Anniversary Prizes for Further and Higher Education, for world-class achievement in green chemistry, environmental research, palaeoecology, law and for Northern Ireland's Comprehensive Cancer Services (CCS) programme.

The latest UK Research Excellence Framework 2014 revealed that all academic areas at Queen's have research assessed as 'world leading', and the University's research strengths are reflected in the quality of our teaching.

WORLD-CLASS CAMPUS

Queen's has one of the most modern campuses in the UK, including the award winning McClay Library, one of the finest libraries in the world and home to 1.2 million volumes and 2,000 reader places.

Other highlights include our new-look Students' Union, the state-of-the-art Physical Education Centre – used as a training camp for the 2012 Olympics. Queen's Elms Student Village or the city centre accommodation Elms BT1 and Elms BT2 are located within easy walking distance of the University.

The One Button Studio is a fantastic addition to our wonderful law school building. It reflects the genius and innovation of our staff, and their commitment to the highest-quality skills-based education; and it is opening up a huge range of feedback and collaboration possibilities for our students.

LAW SCHOOL

Queen's has spent £20m on providing a state-of-the-art facility for its law students.

The building is located in the heart of the campus next door to the Graduate School and the Peter Froggatt Teaching Centre. The building is not just designed to be a place where a law degree is earned, it has been conceived as a flexible space that is shared between staff and students at all levels from undergraduate to Master's and onto PhD. Staff and students are able to meet both formally and informally to share and exchange ideas and knowledge.

The School of Law building offers genuine world-class facilities for learning and research, including an interactive Moot Court room and One Button Studio. The One Button Studio is a high-spec recording studio that gives students the facility to record, review, edit and critically analyse their own presence on camera, and to receive feedback from peers and lecturers. Students can make use of the wide range of group study rooms and the ample social spaces.
