Milena Komarova (m.komarova@qub.ac.uk) is a sociologist and a research officer at the Centre for Cross Border Studies, Armagh. Her work spans the fields of conflict, border and urban studies, exploring the intersections between themes such as Brexit and the UK-Ireland border, and everyday life and the spatialities of conflict transformation in 'divided' cities. Milena has published on urban regeneration, the development of 'shared space', the management of contentious parades and protests, and on the role of visibility and movement in Belfast and Sofia. Most recently, she has co-edited, with Maruška Svašek, a volume on Ethnographies of Movement, Sociality and Space. Place-making in the New Northern Ireland (2018) Oxford: Berghahn Books, <http://www.berghahnbooks.com/title/KomarovaEthnographies>
