STUDENT WORKBOOK

QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY
BELFAST

Pro tanto quid retribuamus – For so much, what shall we give back? (Queen's Motto)

- 6,500 of our students are involved in volunteering, giving their time for others.
- 130 of our students volunteered in homework clubs across Belfast in 2021/22, with over 400 children and young people availing of Homework Clubs support.
- Through the Science Shop, 270 students have completed 64 research projects for community and voluntary sector organisations.
- 32% of our young first degree entrants are from lower socioeconomic groups, which places us first amongst the UK's leading universities for widening access.
- Queen's is a Top 50 UK employer for women and is the lead UK University in tackling the unequal representation of women in science and engineering.
- Queen's work on issues of diversity and inequality in early childhood has been developed into a programme adopted and embedded in over 1,200 pre-school settings, involving more than 40,000 children.
- Queen's University is in the top 198 universities in the world and is ranked 1st in the UK for entrepreneurial impact.
- Queens currently has some 3,800 international students from over 92 different countries.
- Every eight international Queen's undergraduates create £1m of economic impact, based on £129,000 spend per student throughout their studies.
- We have over 160,000 alumni making a difference in 120 countries around the world.
- Queen's has to date made annual energy savings of 1.5m and over 6,000 tons of carbon emissions and aspires to become one of the top ten environmental friendly universities in the world.
- Queen's spin-out companies have a combined turnover of £218m and have created over 1,954 jobs.
- Queen's currently has over 25,000 students with 58% female: 42% male student population. 15% of the Queen's student population are international students.

How to successfully complete the Alcohol Education Initiative

1. In advance of the Workshop you must:

- Read Section 1 of this Workbook.

2. For the Workshop you must:

- Bring this Workbook;
- Turn up on time;
- Abide fully by the House Rules for the Workshop (see page 14).

3. After the Workshop you must:

- Complete an online questionnaire within five working days. This Workbook and the information provided during the Workshop will assist you in achieving the pass mark. Details of the questionnaire will be emailed to your Queen's/Colleges email address following the Workshop;
- Retain this Workbook for future reference and for successful completion of the questionnaire.

Foreword

Queen's University is committed to promoting a positive impact on society, locally and globally. As a student, you are part of Queen's and an ambassador for the University. Therefore you must treat our neighbours who live in the community surrounding the University with respect.

Our students greatly enrich the community: by giving their time through volunteering; sharing skills and knowledge through initiatives such as the Science Shop or Street Society; working to address global challenges through ground-breaking research; and developing the skills needed to fulfil vital roles in society.

The reputation of Queen's can sometimes be undermined when students of the University behave in a manner that negatively impacts on those who share our local community. Although often unintentional, antisocial behaviour impacts on the quality of life of your local neighbours and creates tensions between students and local residents, together we can work to ensure that this does not happen.

Alcohol can often be a major factor as it lowers inhibitions, impairs judgement, and makes people less likely to consider the consequences of their actions. We want you to enjoy your student experience, but we also want you to be safe and responsible.

The Alcohol Education Initiative has been established in consultation with the Students' Union to provide you with an opportunity to learn about and consider the impact of excessive alcohol consumption on yourself and others. This Workbook also provides information on extra-curricular activities that will enrich your student experience, enhance your career prospects and make a difference in the lives of others.

Your safety, health and future are of paramount importance to the University, we want you to have an excellent student experience that includes meeting new friends, socialising and taking new opportunities which will develop you both personally and professionally.

Therefore, respect your local neighbours, make a positive contribution to the place that you will live during your time as a student, and have an enjoyable time but do not be irresponsible or engage in damaging antisocial behaviour which could have consequences for your future.

Finally, be proud to be part of your University, we are proud of you.

Ryan Feeney

Director of Civic Engagement and Social Responsibility

“Here at Queen’s Students’ Union, we know that student life isn’t just about getting your degree. It’s about making lifelong friends, discovering new passions, developing skills, and having incredible experiences that you’ll remember forever! We want each and every one of our students to have the best experience possible during their time at university.

The Alcohol Education Initiative is a programme designed to help challenge our perceptions of alcohol use. We hope this initiative can help ensure that your wellbeing is at the core of your time at university, so that you can thrive and enjoy every experience that student life has to offer.

Your wellbeing is always our number one priority. We’re never here to judge, so don’t hesitate to reach out to us if things go wrong for you. You can contact our free, independent and confidential advice through our SU Advice team at su.advice@qub.ac.uk if you experience issues with disciplinarys, accommodation, academics, or finances. You can also find contacts for your student representatives, including your Student Officer team, on www.q-su.org.

Speaking from personal experience, your time as a student at Queen’s is likely to pass by in the blink of an eye – let’s make sure it’s the best it can be!

And, if you ever need anything, please just get in touch at su.president@qub.ac.uk.

Ádh mór! Best of luck!”

Emma Murphy
Students’ Union President

Participant Feedback

We also wrote to all students who had completed the programme asking if anyone would like to share their story. Thank you to the student who sent in the following contribution.

What I learned from the Alcohol Education Initiative – A Student Perspective

The Alcohol Education Initiative (AEI) really opened my eyes to the units of alcohol contained in each drink, and how few it takes to put yourself over the limit. Contrasting this with the amount many students, including myself, would consume between pre-drinks and a night out, it really hits home the damage you are doing to your body, and also the loss of control and potential impact on your mental health, education and community relations.

I ended up on the AEI program following a run-in with the police after a night out. It could have happened to anyone, but disturbing the local neighbourhood from singing too loudly and being unwilling to provide my personal details when asked could have led to a criminal record. That really scared me as it can restrict your travel and job opportunities, which is just not worth being thrown away on one night out.

I found the AEI so useful to me, not just in terms of making me realise the importance of looking after yourself and your future, but also in terms of respecting the local community you are living in, whether it be home or student accommodation. The noise levels after certain hours detrimentally impact families who may have work themselves and children to send out to school the next morning.

It has massively changed how I think and behave. I no longer drink to excess, for fear of ever leaving myself in the position where I am not in full control of my actions.

Student life at Queen's is so much more than this, with a wide range of extracurricular activities, including clubs and societies, opportunities through the Students' Union, and other programmes and events promoted throughout the year.

From drinking less, I found my mental health was better – just feeling better about myself and not suffering the lows that can follow excessive drinking, as alcohol is a depressant. It's easier not to drink when you really put your mind to it, and organise to socialise through other means. It is also often used as a way to escape from stress and worry, but the next day the stress is still there, and often more prevalent than before.

The University also provides help through counselling and other services if the stress and worry from your academic life, financial situation, or any other issue, is affecting you.

By all means enjoy University life, but it's important to realise how easy it is for alcohol to become too frequent and central to your weekly schedule, and how easy it can be for one night of excess drinking to mean you could lose all that you have been working towards.

Responsibilities of Students

The General Regulations state:

5.6 Every person on signing up to officially become a student of the University makes the following undertaking:

'I do hereby promise that I will conform to the Statutes of the University and to all Regulations, Rules and Policies, including the Student Charter.'

Prospective students should be aware of this obligation before deciding to accept the offer of a place.

In addition, the Student Charter states that students are expected to:

- treat fellow students, University staff and visitors equally and respectfully regardless of gender, religion, community background, nationality, race/ethnic origin, disability, marital status, care of dependants, sexual orientation, or age;
- behave in a responsible manner on and off campus, and on social media and other forms of communication, and ensure that your actions do not have an adverse impact on the University's reputation, its environment, your neighbours, the local community or those who work or study at the University;

- comply with the terms of all Statutes, Ordinances, Study Regulations, Conduct Regulations, policies, rules and requirements of the University including where applicable, immigration legislation and any professional standards and requirements which are applicable to your programme;

Disciplinary Penalties

Under the Conduct Regulations there are two levels of disciplinary hearings. All cases are considered by a Conduct Officer. If the allegations are serious, and/or are against a student with a disciplinary record, the case may be considered by the Committee of Discipline. It should be noted that the Committee of Discipline is required to consider whether the nature and severity of an offence warrants expulsion.

The standard penalties available to Conduct Officers and the Committee of Discipline are set out in Tables 1 and 2 on the following pages.

For further information and guidance on the Conduct Regulations, go to: <http://go.qub.ac.uk/Misconduct-Student-Guide>

Alcohol Education Initiative

The Alcohol Education Initiative is a programme that consists of two elements: the Alcohol Education Workshop and a follow-up questionnaire to be completed online. Failure to complete BOTH elements successfully will mean that you have failed the programme. Failing the programme will lead to any penalty, or part of a penalty, that was set aside subject to successful completion of the Alcohol Education Initiative being imposed.

Please note that the fee for the Alcohol Education Initiative must be paid in advance of the Workshop, in accordance with the terms set out in the invitation to join the programme. Failure to respond to the invitation, or to pay the fee by the deadlines set out in the invitation, will mean that you will have lost the opportunity to take part in the programme. As a consequence, any penalty, or part of a penalty, that was set aside subject to successful completion of the Alcohol Education Initiative will be imposed.

1. Alcohol Education Workshop: House Rules

To successfully complete the Workshop, you must comply with all of the following House Rules. Failure to do so will lead to exclusion from the Workshop and will mean that you have failed the programme. This will lead to any penalty, or part of a penalty, that was set aside subject to successful completion of the Alcohol Education Initiative being imposed.

- You must arrive on time for the Workshop. If you arrive late you will be excluded.
- You will be asked to show photographic I.D. If there is any doubt about your identity you will be asked to leave.
- The Workshop will last approximately three hours, and you must complete the full Workshop. There will be a short break.
- Mobile phones must be switched off.
- You must follow any reasonable instructions/requests from the Workshop facilitator.
- You must participate/contribute within the sessions.
- You must respect and keep confidences shared in the Workshop.
- Anything likely to offend others during the Workshop, in terms of provocative language or behaviour, is not permitted.
- You must not turn up for the Workshop under the influence of alcohol or drugs, or consume alcohol or drugs during the Workshop, including break times.
- Smoking is not permitted during the Workshop.

You will be required to sign a copy of the House Rules at the start of the Workshop.

2. Follow-up Questionnaire

Following the Workshop, you will receive an email containing instructions for completion of an online questionnaire. To successfully complete the questionnaire, you must achieve the pass-mark set out in the email by the stated deadline. There is no limit to the number of attempts you can make to achieve a pass mark prior to the deadline. Failure to achieve a pass mark will mean that you have failed the programme, and will lead to any penalty, or part of a penalty, that was set aside subject to successful completion of the Alcohol Education Initiative being imposed.

The Impact of Binge Drinking on Emergency Services

Aisling Diamond, A&E Consultant

I have been a Consultant in emergency medicine for 12 years, having trained in the U.K. and Australia. I currently work in a local Accident and Emergency Department and also in outreach at outdoor events.

Working in a busy A&E can be both rewarding and challenging and juggling the needs of a wide variety of patients and the public is not always easy.

An increase in people attending after drinking alcohol or taking drugs presents particular challenges. As well as clogging up an already busy A&E, staff are often diverted from caring for people who are seriously unwell to deal with disruptive behaviour by people who are intoxicated.

I strongly believe that my work should be about dealing with critical situations such as resuscitating a newborn baby, supporting an elderly patient in their final hours, or dealing with people with life threatening injuries from a road traffic incident. Instead my time has so often been taken up dealing with people who have just had too much to drink.

The Alcohol Recovery Centre

My experience of working nightly in A&E moved me to get involved in setting up the Alcohol Recovery Centre (ARC), which is a partnership between Health and Social Care Trusts, Northern Ireland Ambulance Service, the Police Service Northern Ireland and voluntary sector agencies.

The ARC is an outreach service led by professionals from emergency departments, and delivered at outdoor events and weekend evenings, which allows people who are intoxicated to be treated and supported to recover in a specially designed unit, only being transferred to emergency departments if needed.

The ARC has made a very positive impact on emergency services with significantly reduced attendances of intoxicated people in local emergency departments, freeing up staff time and emergency department space, and enabling ambulances to focus on responding quickly to other incidents across the city.

While people who are intoxicated do not always need to be treated in A&E, alcohol can be extremely dangerous, and has been a trigger for many deaths, including celebrities such as Whitney Houston, so the involvement of medical professionals in the ARC is essential.

My message to you when heading for a night out is to please think about the impact of binge drinking both on your own health and safety, and on the staff and patients in hospitals whose care can be disrupted by the behaviour of drunk people.

Scenarios

In your group read the scenario below and decide how the scenario ended. (Remember these are real, they actually happened.)

1. Scenario 1 - Picking up a Poster Girl

A group of three students left Laverty's night club to walk back to Agincourt Avenue. On the way home they passed a Hairdressers shop and took a shine to the promotional board with a life size photo of a female model on it.

They managed to remove the board from the wall and carried it off down the street joking and passing it between them as if they had picked her up for the night.

As they entered Agincourt Avenue they fell into the headlights of a Police patrol land rover and were stopped with the board.

Names and addresses were taken and the students were cautioned for the offence of theft and criminal damage. The students, although they had drink taken, co-operated with the patrol and confirmed their identities, and were left to go home. They believed that was the end of the matter.

The board was taken off them and returned to the owner of the salon the next day.

2. Scenario 2 - Girl in a Taxi

A Fresher joined a new group of housemates and headed out for the night to the Botanic Inn. They had had pre-drinks and she was "well on" before they hit the "Bot". During the night she left the company of the house mates and at closing time found herself on her own outside the Botanic Inn in a large crowd. She started to walk home, but was "called over" by a guy she had met once before. He offered to share a taxi back to the Holylands where she was staying.

When they approached the Spar on Rugby Ave, the Taxi slowed to a stop and the male jumped out and made off without paying for the fare. The girl was held by the Taxi driver and was unable to get out because she was so heavily intoxicated. She had no money and couldn't remember the house number she had just moved into that day!

She argued with the driver and the police came over to sort out the argument. Unfortunately she continued to argue with the Police patrol and in spite of appeals to calm down and sort the £4 fare out she would not settle. Other students became involved at the request of the PSNI to see if she could be calmed and the house identified.

3. Scenario 3 - Holyland house party!

A group of students decided to have another night-in drinking and generally messing around their house in the Holylands. Much drink was taken and boredom set in. Horse-play ensued and they started to wrestle with each other, and became more and more physical. A couple of pieces of furniture were damaged at first, then, as things developed, they broke more of the furniture up including, for reasons best known to themselves, the beds, wardrobes etc. They then decided to post the debris out the bedroom window into the alley! The stud walls were also the focus of attention and they made an opening between the upstairs rooms by putting fists and boots through the walls.

The PSNI were called (due to the noise, residents had believed that a fight and serious assault was in progress). A Public Order unit arrived and made a forced entry to the house, breaking through three locked doors. They calmed down the situation and the Landlord's agent was called to see the damage. As it was private property the option was left for him to contact the owner to make a formal complaint if they wanted.

ANSWERS: Health & Physical Effects (p21)

Short Term

Brain shrinkage causing general motor and sensory impairment. Difficulty in abstract thinking, concentration, problem solving and impairment of memory for recent events. Blackouts.

Increased risk of cancer of the mouth, throat and oesophagus.

Liver becomes enlarged with fat deposits and may become inflamed causing alcoholic hepatitis. Continued drinking causes liver cirrhosis, or severely damaged liver tissue, which will be replaced by new tissue further enlarging the liver. Ultimately the liver becomes unable to perform its metabolic function and goes into failure. Decrease in tolerance of alcohol occurs with the degeneration of the liver. Chronic excessive drinking may cause primary liver cancer or hepatoma.

Tremulous hands. Tingling numbness and loss of sensation in fingers (peripheral neuritis).

Men: Impotence, shrinkage of the testicles, loss of male characteristics and possible feminisation in the development of breast tissue. Reduced fertility.

Long Term

Aggressive, irrational behaviour. Arguments, violence, anxiety, depression, neuroses, phobias and hallucinations.

Oesophageal varices occur as a result of increased pressure of the portal veins. Causes localised varicose veins; these may rupture, resulting in haemorrhage (often fatal).

Reduced resistance to lung infection, colds, pneumonia and TB.

Fat deposited in the heart muscle, impairing its function (alcoholic cardiomyopathy) precipitating heart attacks.

Chronic gastritis, stomach or duodenal ulcer, vomiting, diarrhoea, malnutrition.

Inflammation of intestine wall inhibits absorption of vitamins and iron causing vitamin deficiency and anaemia.

Numbness and tingling in toes (peripheral neuritis).

Women: Excessive drinking during pregnancy increases risk of impairing normal foetal development. Reduced fertility.

Section 3: Citizenship

Introduction

If you're fortunate enough to live in the heart of South Belfast, it is a great way to experience the diversity of the community. Here, residents from a variety of backgrounds, ages and ethnicities come together and share all the excitement South Belfast has to offer. As a student at Queen's, you are one of these residents and therefore an ambassador for local, national, and international society. This also encompasses the idea of being a global citizen; one who listens, understands, helps out, and above all else, shows respect towards others. These are behaviours closely connected with the University's Core Values of Connectedness, Excellence, Respect, Ambition and Integrity.

Fortunately, there are many ways to engage with your local community. There are numerous community organisations out there who seek to provide volunteering opportunities to local residents and students. Giving back to your community is a rewarding step we can all take towards being a good citizen while also enabling you to network and build strong friendships with your peers.

Each year, your Students' Union witnesses some of the most inspiring cases of students who go above and beyond what is expected of them. These are students who give up their time, share their talents, or simply carry out random acts of kindness – all because they understand that we are all humans who live together as part of a community.

We all have a shared interest in making our world a better place for everyone. Whether you engage with volunteering opportunities through SU Volunteer, or extra-curricular activities such as SU Clubs & Societies, it's a fantastic way to complement your studies. We guarantee there'll be something out there for everyone.

This is your community. Make sure it's one you can be proud of.

How to get a criminal record in the Holylands. A resident's perspective and action.

On Saturday evening I was settling down to watch a key football premiership match. As I picked up my TV remote control heard a noise from a group of males in the street outside. I glanced out of the window and saw one of them kick off the wing mirror of a parked car.

Warily I put down the remote and picked up my phone and went outside. I saw the car had been damaged so I followed the group as they made their way along Fitzroy Avenue.

On College Green the same individual kicked off the wing mirror of a little red car. I was on the phone to the police when one of the group spotted me. They also saw a free taxi at the Botanic Avenue junction.

Three got into the taxi and called the fourth to hurry up and get in. As the taxi moved off it seemed they would get away but thirty seconds later a police car arrived. I told the police about the taxi and they gave chase. I then followed up behind the Police.

When I arrived at Shaftsbury Square two police cars had boxed in the taxi. Three males were talking to the police and the fourth, the one who had damaged the cars, was resisting arrest.

As it took three police officers to subdue him he was arrested for resisting police, causing criminal damage and being drunk and disorderly.

Instead of a nice evening on the town this individual had to spend the night in the custody suite at Musgrave police station (worst nightclub ever). I asked one of his friends why they hadn't stopped him and he lamely replied he'd tried.

In the Holylands a considerable amount of criminal damage is caused by visiting "friends and acquaintances" who believe there will be no consequences. This is a mistake. Getting a criminal record is a very big mistake, and certainly has consequences.

Signed: A Holylands' resident

Outcome: The PSNI Neighbourhood confirmed this resulted in arrest and conviction for Criminal Damage of a non-student.

SU Volunteer

What better way to bring about positive change in your community or further afield than through volunteering which gives you back so much in return? It's an opportunity to develop new skills, improve your confidence, meet new people, support your mental wellbeing, enjoy new experiences and enhance your employability.

SU Volunteer has a network of over 520 organisations that welcome volunteers and we can match you to your perfect role based on your interests and skills. If you know you want to do something but you're not quite sure what, never fear, we will be able to provide you with a range of volunteering options and just know something will spark your interest.

Have a look at the latest opportunities: <https://www.q-su.org/VolunteerSU/Opportunities/>

Or sign up to our monthly newsletter, jam packed with the latest volunteering opportunities on offer: <https://www.q-su.org/VolunteerSU/Opportunities/>

Asides from external opportunities, we run our own programmes:

Homework Clubs

Volunteering with Homework Clubs gives you the chance to provide homework support to local children and young people living in areas of educational underachievement, to improve their study skills, build confidence and raise their future aspirations.

Recruitment open at the beginning of Semester 1 and Semester 2:

<https://q-su.org/VolunteerSU/Opportunities/HomeworkClubs/>

Handy Helpers

This is a unique initiative which enables you to take part in a wide range of one-off volunteering opportunities in the local community without making a regular commitment. You can pick and choose what activities you want to participate in based on your interests and availability. Past projects have included bird house making, archiving historical records, decorating charity premises for Christmas, sorting donations to be distributed to those in need, painting and planting to enrich local physical locations.

Registration open during Semester time: <https://www.q-su.org/VolunteerSU/Opportunities/HandyHelpers/>

Jump IN

Jump IN supports you whether you are a seasoned volunteer, or looking for your first role. From, volunteering fairs for those just starting out or looking for something new, to training sessions and expert Q&As for those more experienced in volunteering, we ensure you can build the networks, skills and confidence you need to progress in your voluntary role and enhance your employability skills.

Alternatively, if you have got a charitable or voluntary idea of your own, we can provide you with the guidance you need to set up and structure your project for maximum impact. We can also introduce you to key contacts that can help your project succeed.

Registration open during Semester time: <https://q-su.org/VolunteerSU/Training/JumpIN/>

You can also ensure your volunteering is recognised through Prestige certificates, evidencing 50, 100 and 200 hours of volunteering. Volunteering can also lead to DegreePlus which is an employability award that allows you to gain formal recognition and a certificate for the extracurricular experience (including volunteering) you gain during your time at Queen's. Remember – 73% of employers would employ a candidate with volunteering experience over one without.

RAG (Raise & Give) is the official fundraising group of Queen's Students' Union. Every student at Queen's is automatically a member of RAG, and each year it is led by an active, dedicated and passionate group of students. They organise creative, inclusive and innovative fundraising events, activities and competitions throughout the year that are slightly beyond the norm!

The term "to rag" was used in the late 1800s and it meant to pester or badger someone. It's thought that around this time, university students who noticed the inequalities in society began to take time out of their studies to rag members of the public to donate to the more vulnerable members of society.

QUB RAG can also boast to being the organiser of the largest Pub Crawl in the UK & Ireland for its annual Fresher's Pub Crawl. There are also quizzes, bucket collections, pillow fights in Queen's grounds, cream pie fights and the even more infamous RAG-day!

It helps students give back to the communities and causes that they're passionate about, all while having fun and making new friends.

Over the last decade, RAG has raised hundreds of thousands of pounds for worthwhile causes, and we are not slowing down anytime soon!

Our nominated charities for the year are:

The Students' Union is led by students for students, alongside a team of staff who are here for you.

Every year, a team of Full-Time Student Officers is elected by the student body to: represent the 24,000+ students at Queen's; organise campaigns to make the changes you want happen; and lead the Union on your behalf.

We also offer services and support such as SU Advice, SU Clubs & Societies, SU Enterprise, SU Volunteer and SU Voice. Plus, we've a Union Shop, Union Bar, bookable rooms and loads of areas where you can relax and meet up with friends.

To make sure that the views of all our students are heard and that we're as representative as possible we also have further representative roles that you can run for each year. These include Part-Time Student Officers, Student Councillors and Faculty, School and Course Rep positions.

Becoming a Student Rep is a really rewarding leadership role. You'll make a huge impact at Queen's, improve the experience of your friends and fellow students, meet loads of new people, get lots of training, learn new skills and even be rewarded with a Queen's Degree Plus Accreditation. Make sure to keep an eye out for when nominations take place in February and October each year.

Social Media Policy for Students

As a student at Queen's, you are required to adhere to the Social Media Policy when posting or sharing comments or content online. The aim of the policy is to help you use social media in a way that is professional, ethical and legal. Careless use of social media could damage your reputation and employment prospects and result in disciplinary action or legal proceedings, so make sure that you check out and adhere to the Policy and the accompanying Social Media Guide for Students at: <http://go.qub.ac.uk/social-media-students>

Managing Your Online Reputation. What does your online behaviour say about you?

Every time you share information, photos or videos on sites like Facebook, Twitter or Instagram, TikTok, Weibo and Douyin you are contributing to the image of you that is portrayed online. Whilst some social media sites offer privacy settings, information posted to these sites can still be easily shared and often becomes public. Anyone, including family, friends and potential employers, can find this information and may use it to make judgements about you.

How can you protect your online reputation?

Take some time to consider how your online behaviour could reflect on your reputation.

Think before you share

- Before posting comments, images or videos online, think carefully about whether they could have a negative impact on your reputation – now or in the future.
- Regardless of your privacy settings, assume anything you put online may become public. Would you publish it in a national newspaper?

Connect with respect

- Don't post anything online that could cause others offence or embarrassment.
- Respect the privacy of others and ask for permission before sharing images of them.
- Don't show support for offensive views by liking or sharing them.

Clean up your 'digital dirt'

- Remove any offensive comments or references to anti-social behaviour or illegal activities from online profiles.
- Review photos or updates that you've been tagged in.
- If someone posts something that could reflect negatively on you, send a polite request asking them to remove it.

SU ENTERPRISE

Develop the enterprise skills you need to start your own business or secure your dream job.

SU Enterprise is a student focused team based in the Students' Union that is here to help you achieve your full potential, whatever your degree pathway.

Our business one-to-ones can help you, whether you are just beginning to think about ideas for a new business or have already started up.

We can help you:

Brainstorm ideas

We will help you develop a new business idea, or talk through one you already have.

Learn new skills

We can look at your business skills and point you towards programmes that will teach you new ones, making sure you have all the knowhow, experience, and contacts you need.

Source Support

We can pinpoint organisations to help you with your specific needs. Maybe you want help researching your preferred industry, competitors, or target audience. You might want to find out how you can get a prototype of your product created. We can also fill you in on the grants and funding you are eligible for and help you make sense of those tricky applications. We can also work with you to source and enter competitions both internally and externally to help you win money for your business.

Write a great business plan

A business plan sounds a bit scary, but it's basically telling the story of your business. It helps you organise your thoughts and shows any problems that could pop up. Remember, you'll need it if you want to get finance from a bank or investor. It's best to tackle it at the very start. Even if your business is already up and running, a business plan can help you make it even better! We can give you all the guidance you need to write your business plan and make sure you cover all the right areas.

Get free office space

We have a dedicated Co-Work space in the Students' Union that you could be lucky enough to use... absolutely free of charge.

What's more, you will be sharing the space with other new start-up student businesses, which is great for making contacts, getting advice, and bouncing ideas off others in the same position as you!

We have supported hundreds of students just like you. Whether you are an undergrad, postgrad, part-time or mature student, we can arm you with all the skills and experience you need!

If you have any questions or would like to meet our SU Enterprise experts, just get in touch. We're happy to help!

You can find our contact details and further information at <http://www.q-su.org/EnterpriseSU/>

Degree Plus: Get accredited for your extra-curricular, work-related experiences!

This award is open to all full-time and part-time undergraduate and postgraduate taught students, and is a means of gaining recognition from Queen's for valuable experiences and skills that you develop outside your studies. Almost 2000 students complete DegreePlus each year and receive the Award alongside their degree at graduation.

Employers are looking for graduates who can demonstrate that they have the skills needed for workplace success. Many activities you participate in – e.g. undertaking an additional leadership development programme, organising your own work or international experience, setting up your own business or engaging in voluntary or committee work – enable you to acquire important employability skills such as teamwork, leadership, communication and commercial awareness. The Degree Plus Award formally recognises these skills and experience.

Keeping Safe if you're Drinking

Going out for a night out can be great craic and it doesn't always need to involve alcohol. The Students' Union organise alcohol free events throughout the year, and there are a huge range of clubs and societies to join.

Take care if you are drinking as alcohol can make you more vulnerable to accidents or being a victim of crime. Here are some things you can do to keep yourself and your friends safe.

Drink spiking

According to a recent survey of Belfast students, 25% said they had their drink spiked.

If you start to feel strange or more drunk than you should be, get help immediately.

- Never leave your drink unattended and keep an eye on your friends' drinks.
- Don't accept a drink from someone you don't know.
- Consider sticking to bottled drinks and avoiding punch bowls or jugs of cocktails.
- If you think your drink has been tampered with, don't drink it – tell a trusted friend or relative immediately.

Free bottle toppers to reduce the risk of drink spiking are available from the Students' Union at 028 9097 1002.

Getting Home Safe

- Don't give out your address to someone you've just met, or go home alone with them.
- Before going out, let someone know where you're going and what time you expect to be home.
- If possible, make plans for your journey home e.g. book a taxi, arrange a lift, designate a driver, check out the public transport options.

Section 5: Wellbeing Cont'd

- Don't drive if you are over the limit or take a lift from someone else who is. If you have had a drink and are planning to drive, give yourself at least an hour for every half pint you've had.
- Avoid taking expensive equipment with you or anything that could be a target for thieves.
- Keep your keys and phone somewhere safe.
- Where possible, travel home with friends.
- If you have to travel separately, text each other once you get home.

Don't Play with Fire!

In Northern Ireland, impairment due to alcohol, illegal or prescription drugs is a factor in 80% of fatal house fires. Avoid cooking or lighting fires when drunk, and take care with candles and cigarettes. Make sure you have smoke alarms installed in your accommodation, test regularly and don't ever cover them up. What may seem a harmless bit of fun, such as letting off a fire extinguisher, can lead to the loss of life.

If you are in University Accommodation, you can be fined up to £500 if you cover or tamper with fire safety equipment.

Preventing Choking

If someone passes out after binge drinking (but is still breathing normally), you should put them on their side in the recovery position (see overleaf) to reduce the chance of them choking on their own vomit. Also, try to make sure someone is with them – don't leave them on their own to sleep it off.

Safe and Consensual Sex

Binge drinking can impact your ability to feel sexual stimulation as well as your judgement and may make you less likely to use a condom, which increases your risk of getting a sexually transmitted infection such as chlamydia, gonorrhoea, HIV or hepatitis. It can also lead to an unplanned pregnancy.

Free advice and contraception is available from Common Youth 028 9032 8866 <https://commonyouth.com/> and from the Sexual Health Clinic based in the One Elmwood.

Free advice and contraception is available from the Students' Union Sexual Health Clinic on the 3rd Floor of Queen's Students' Union at One Elmwood, Mondays and Tuesdays, 10am-3pm. Visit <https://www.q-su.org/Events/> for more info.

Drugs and/or alcohol can inhibit a person's ability to give willing consent; please think about this before engaging in sexual activity. If you feel someone is too drunk to give consent, stop and make sure the person is safe.

It is never the victim's fault.

If you have been a victim of sexually misconduct, we advise you seek help. You can contact the 24 hr Domestic and Sexual Violence Helpline on 0808 8021414. The Rowan Centre (Sexual Assault Referral Centre) provides clear guidance, first aid and confidential support to all victims of sexual assault. You can also contact <https://reportandsupport.qub.ac.uk/> to receive support from trained staff called safe and healthy relationship advocates.

While you may find it hard to talk about what's happened, the advocate can talk to you about the incident and your options which could include reporting to Police and/or the University as well as discussing support options including help with counselling services.

Here are some contacts you may find helpful:

- Report and Support - <https://reportandsupport.qub.ac.uk/>
- PSNI Emergency 999 non-emergency 101
- 24 hr Domestic and Sexual Violence Helpline 0808 082 1414 <https://www.dsahelpline.org/>
- The Rowan (Sexual Assault Referral Centre for Northern Ireland) 0800 389 4424 – for all ages who have been sexually abused, assaulted or raped
- Nexus (NI counselling service for those who have been sexually abused) 028 9032 6803

Here at Queen's University we have a zero tolerance policy towards sexual misconduct on and off campus. Sexual misconduct can be defined as any sexual act that a person hasn't consented to, or is forced to do, against their will. It is a form of sexual violence that includes rape (an assault involving penetration of the vagina, anus or mouth) and/or other sexual offences such as groping, forced kissing, sharing of sexual images and harassment (Sexual Offences (NI) Order, 2008 and Protection from Harassment (NI) Order, 1997).

Sexual assault can happen to anyone of any gender or sexual orientation.

Alcohol Poisoning

The signs and symptoms of alcohol poisoning include: confusion, vomiting, seizures (fits), slow breathing (less than eight breaths a minute), cold, clammy, pale-bluish skin caused by a dangerous drop in body temperature (hypothermia). In severe cases, alcohol poisoning can cause unconsciousness, coma and death.

If you suspect alcohol poisoning, dial 999 immediately to request an ambulance. Never leave a person to 'sleep it off'.

If someone is unconscious, but breathing normally, put them into the recovery position.

Recovery Position

To place someone in the recovery position:

- kneel on the floor on one side of the person;
- place the arm nearest you at a right angle to their body with their hand upwards towards the head;
- tuck their other hand under the side of their head, so that the back of their hand is touching their cheek;
- bend the knee farthest from you to a right angle;
- roll the person onto their side carefully by pulling on the bent knee;

- the top arm should be supporting the head and the bottom arm will stop you rolling them too far;
- open their airway by gently tilting their head back and lifting their chin, and check that nothing is blocking their airway;
- stay with the person and monitor their breathing and pulse continuously until help arrives;
- turn the person onto their other side after 30 minutes, unless they have suffered an injury that prevents you from doing so.

For further information, go to <http://www.nhs.uk/conditions/Accidents-and-first-aid/pages/the-recovery-position.aspx>

1 Tilt head backwards, ensure clear airway and straighten head and neck

2 Place arm at side and other arm across chest with hand against cheek

3 Bring far knee up to a 90° angle

4 Roll person over towards you with knee at angle and ensure head is supported

Just a hangover?

Carbon monoxide gas poisoning can kill. Don't confuse the symptoms with a hangover.

- Ask your Landlord for a gas safety record to prove gas appliances are checked annually.
- Fit a carbon monoxide alarm marked with BS EN 50291 from any DIY store.
- A gas flame should be blue. If it is yellow and floppy, switch off and inform your landlord.
- Don't sleep in the same room as an open fire or gas fire.
- Smoke coming into the house from an open fire can be a sign of a blocked flue or chimney.
- Make sure your boiler is serviced regularly by a registered engineer.
- Never have a barbeque indoors.

Get home safe with SOS Bus NI

SOS Bus NI are delighted to be working in partnership with Queen's University Belfast to meet the needs of vulnerable people on our streets and provide reassurance to the community, helping to keep Belfast safe and allowing people to feel safe in this fantastic city.

Operating since 2007, SOS volunteers have interacted with hundreds of thousands of people, providing tea, coffee and a listening ear and we also provide welfare support and basic first aid for large scale public events and festivals.

SOS Bus NI provides welfare support and crisis intervention on our response minibuses on Weekdays from 2pm – 6pm in the city centre and Friday and Saturday nights from 10:30pm - 3am based at Shaftsbury Square.

We realise that anyone can become vulnerable. We a non-judgemental space in which everyone is treated equally and our trained volunteers can provide the right level of support to help each client.

Our clients often include people who are:

- Victims of violent and non-violent crime
- Suffering from poor mental health, considering self-harming or thinking about suicide
- At risk of or experiencing homelessness
- Under the influence of alcohol or drugs
- Injured or unwell
- Unable to get home or to hospital
- Isolated, lost or separated from friends and without charge on their phone

We want to make Belfast a safe city for everyone, ensuring you get the best possible experience when out at night.

Here are our tips for a great night out:

- Plan a safe way home before you leave, or book a taxi in advance;
- Ensure your phone is fully charged before you go out
- Eat well and drink plenty of water during the day
- Pace yourself when drinking and take breaks
- Never leave your drink unattended
- Stay together with your friends and keep important numbers at hand if you get separated

It is a good idea to put our emergency number in your phone in case you or a friend ever need us:

A Drug is...

A chemical which can cause changes in the way the human body functions, either mentally, physically or emotionally.

Drugs can change the messages your brain cells are sending to each other, and to the rest of your body, by interfering with your brain's own chemical signals, Neurotransmitters.

A drug can be:

- Obtained naturally from plants
- Prepared from natural materials by semi-synthesis
- Totally man-made

The four main categories of drugs are:

Stimulants

A stimulant is a drug which speeds up the central nervous system. These substances tend to increase alertness and physical activity.

Examples of Stimulant Drugs

- Cocaine
- Nicotine
- Caffeine
- Mephedrone
- Amphetamine (speed)
- Ecstasy
- Khat
- MDMA
- Methamphetamine

Depressants

Depressants are substances that depress the activity of the central nervous system. Depressants are often referred to as “downers” because of their sedative, hypnotic and tranquillizing effects. There are both legal and illegal depressants. Alcohol is the most common legal depressant. Other legal depressants include medications prescribed to induce sleep, relieve stress, and subdue anxiety. Some of these prescriptions such as Rohypnol are also often abused. GHB is an illegal depressant often used in drug-facilitated sexual assaults because of its sedative properties.

Examples of Depressants

- Alcohol
- Cannabis
- Benzodiazepines (blues and yellows)
- GHB/GBL

Section 5: Wellbeing Cont'd

Opiates

An Opiate is a chemical substance that has a morphine-like action in the body. These agents work by binding to Opioid receptors, which are found principally in the central nervous system. Opiates have long been used to treat acute pain (such as post-operative pain). They have also been found to be invaluable in palliative care to alleviate the severe, chronic, disabling pain of terminal conditions such as cancer.

Examples of Opiates

- Heroin
- Morphine
- Codeine

Hallucinogens

Hallucinogens are drugs that cause hallucinations. They may involve hearing, seeing, smelling, tasting or feeling something that isn't really there. Or they may involve distorted sensory perceptions, so that things look, sound, smell, taste, or feel differently. The user typically knows that what he or she is seeing, hearing, smelling, etc. is not real, but on occasions, the hallucinations can be very frightening to the user.

Examples of Hallucinogens

- Magic Mushrooms
- Salvia
- Cannabis

RECENT DRUG TRENDS

More people died from the misuse of opioid drugs than in road fatalities in 2015, according to a statement by the PSNI. Latest figures indicate there were 88 opioid-related deaths in that year, and 74 fatalities as a result of road accidents. Opioids include heroin, morphine, methadone, as well as prescription drugs such as tramadol.

In addition, the use of Novel Psychoactive Substances (NPS), formerly known as legal highs, continues to increase in Northern Ireland. Problems arise as the changing nature of the compounds they contain makes it difficult for users to know what they are taking, and the effect they will have.

The risks of taking NPS are further exacerbated when they are combined with alcohol, prescription drugs and other more common recreational drugs such as MDMA and Cannabis.

LEGAL INFORMATION: POSSESSION AND SUPPLY OF DRUGS IN NI

Misuse of Drugs Act 1971

This act serves to control the non-medical use of certain drugs. Drugs subject to this Act are known as 'controlled' drugs. The Act stipulates a series of offences, including unlawful supply, intent to supply, import or export (all these are collectively known as 'trafficking' offences) and unlawful production, and also governs unlawful possession. To enforce this law the police have special powers to stop, detain and search people on 'reasonable suspicion' that they are in possession of a controlled drug.

New psycho active substances are illegal under the Psychoactive Substances Act 2016. See link below for clear guidance on the new law related to NPS with specific reference to Northern Ireland. <http://go.qub.ac.uk/NPSinfo>

Student Support in Other Colleges

St Mary's

The Student Guidance and Support Service at St Mary's University College is situated upstairs in the Student Services Hub (Rooms 016.6 & 016.7). Guidance and information is available regarding the following: accommodation, counselling, academic matters, careers, health, living in the community and financial matters. Students with additional needs should also contact this service at the earliest opportunity to ensure that appropriate support can be arranged.

The Student Guidance and Support Service staff work closely with the officers in the Students' Union to ensure that students' needs are met as fully as possible.

Remember that there is always someone here to help you. If rooms 016.6 & 016.7 are unstaffed, please consult with a member of staff in the GAC who will provide you with contact details for staff who are also available to offer support and assistance.

About Alcohol: Did You Know?

In a student survey by ICM Unlimited for Drinkaware on 'Drunken Nights Out':

- 14% said they had a sexual encounter they regretted the next day.
- 5% couldn't remember whether they had sex.
- 21% males said they had an accident and hurt themselves.

(Drunken Nights Out Student Harassment Survey, 2015)

And more generally,

- Alcohol misuse costs Northern Ireland in the region of £800m per year.
- Alcohol is the world's no.1 risk factor for ill health and premature death within the 25–59 age group.
- 38% of all road deaths in Ireland in 2016 were attributed to alcohol.
- Impairment due to alcohol or drugs is a factor in 80% of fatal house fires in NI.
- Alcohol is believed to be responsible for approximately 12,800 Cancer cases annually in the UK.
- A quarter of all adult drowning victims have alcohol in their bloodstream.
- 65% of suicides have been linked to excessive drinking.
- Five pints a week over a year contains the same calories as 221 doughnuts.
