WELCOME

Welcome to the School of Arts, English and Languages.

The School has over 120 academic and support staff with over 1,300 undergraduates across our degree pathways. We offer a stimulating learning environment, underpinned by excellent award-winning teaching, world-leading research and a strong sense of community. With important links to industry and international partners, and a focus on developing skills, leadership and citizenship in a global society, our aim is to deliver a truly transformative student experience.

Some of our modern facilities include:

- Sonic Arts Research Centre (SARC) – Home of the world’s first sonic laboratory.
- Seamus Heaney Centre (SHC) – Centre for excellence in creative writing and poetry.
- Film Studio – Film industry standard lighting system; adjacent film, television editing and grading suites.
- Brian Friel Theatre – A 120-seat theatre with rehearsal room, dressing rooms, green room and workshop.
- Queen’s Film Theatre (QFT) – QFT has been part of the Northern Irish cinema scene for 50 years, celebrating all things cinematic with a wide range of films from all eras and many languages. Regular events with filmmakers form part of the diverse programming at the cinema.
- Language Centre – Provides students with excellent learning facilities including the latest language learning and translation software.
- Harty Room – A 120-seat concert venue with two full-concert Steinway grand pianos, a double-manual harpsicord, fortepiano, chamber organ and many percussion instruments.

Arts, English and Languages Peer Mentors offer you, as a new student, the opportunity to access guidance and advice from students who have already completed Level 1. The School also hosts a broad and vibrant range of student societies and music ensembles, from the Tyrone Guthrie Society – which provides opportunities for students to work with professional directors – to the Queen’s University Big Band, Chamber Choir, and JAM (Junior Academy of Music). Our students also run a thriving English Society and three energetic QUB Languages Societies which, together and individually, host a diverse programme of cultural events as well as an annual formal.

AUDIO ENGINEERING

The Audio Engineering programme is designed for students interested in pursuing a career in engineering within the audio and digital media industries. Students will gain technical skills and knowledge relevant to the broader field of electrical and electronic engineering including electronics, embedded systems, computer programming and mathematics. Students will also gain practical experience of recording, editing, mixing and mastering music using professional studio facilities and designing new hardware/software musical instruments and interfaces.

COURSE CONTENT

Stage 1

Stage 1 of the programme consists of six compulsory modules which introduce students to core technical skills and engineering fundamentals including electronics, embedded systems, computer programming and mathematics. Students also gain thorough grounding in sound recording principles and practical experience of audio mixing.

Modules include (*indicates core module)

- Electric Circuits*
- Mathematics*
- Embedded Systems*
- Electronic Systems*
- Sound Recording and Production*
- Audio Mixing*

Stage 2

Stage 2 consists of five compulsory modules. These modules further develop students' understanding of electronics, embedded systems and computer programming with the latter topic focusing more specifically on the development of audio software applications. Audio engineering practice is facilitated through collaborative music recordings with student ensembles and the design of new musical instruments and musical interfaces.

Modules include (*indicates core module)

- Audio Programming*
- Signals and Control*
- Embedded Systems*
- Electronic Circuit Design*
- Instrument and Installation Design*
- Sound Design for Screen
- Sound Recording and Production

Stage 3

Stage 3 introduces students to the principles of auditory perception and the architecture of digital audio effects. Students can also opt to take modules in spatial audio mixing, further sound recording practice, musical interaction design or work placement. The programme concludes with the completion of a double weighted technical project focusing on the design of new hardware and/or software tools for audio applications.

Modules include (*indicates core module)

- Digital Audio Effects*
- Auditory Perception*
- Audio Engineering Project*
- Work Based Learning
- Audio Post Production
- Sound Recording and Production

WHY QUEEN'S?

World-Class Facilities

The School is one of the largest and best-equipped institutions in the UK working in the field of music and sound. Students have access to state-of-the-art audio resources including the world's first Sonic Laboratory – a unique performance space capable of three-dimensional sound projection.

Industry Links

The School benefits from strong industry partnerships including BBC NI, Ulster Orchestra, Opera NI, Hard Rain Soloist Ensemble, Cathedral Arts Festival, Moving on Music, Diatribe Records, DTS and Dolby.

Internationally Renowned Experts

Many of our staff are leading international experts in their fields of research. Additionally, the School employs a number of Industry Fellows – internationally

BSc Honours

Audio Engineering 3 yrs (J930)

Entrance Requirements

A-level:

ABB including Mathematics and at least one from Physics (preferred), Biology, Chemistry, Electronics, Further Mathematics or Double Award Life & Health Sciences, Technology and Design.

BTEC Extended Diploma:

A relevant BTEC Extended Diploma with 120 credits at Distinction and 60 credits at Merit. Distinctions will be required in stipulated relevant units + GCSE Mathematics grade C/4.

BTEC Higher National Diploma:

Those with good grades in a relevant Higher National Diploma will be considered on their individual merits for entry to Stage 2 + GCSE Mathematics grade C/4.

Note: applicants not offering Physics at A-level should have a minimum of a grade C/4 in GCSE Physics or GCSE Double Award Science grades CC/44.

For students whose first language is not English

An IELTS score of 6.0 with a minimum of 5.5 in each test component or an equivalent acceptable qualification, details of which are available at: go.qub.ac.uk/EnglishLanguageReqs renowned professionals in their fields of composition, performance, songwriting, sound engineering and audio production.

Professional Training

The School is an Avid Learning Partner and Avid-accredited courses in Pro Tools for audio post-production are embedded into the curriculum.

Work Placements

The Stage 3 Work Based Learning module is an excellent opportunity for students to gain real-world industry experience. Some of the organisations our students have completed placements with include DTS, Pi Communications, RTÉ, Production House, Start Together Studios, Redbox Recording, Smalltown America Studios, Blast Furnace Studios and Sonic Visuals.

JAM 4 (Junior Academy of Music) Creative Music Technology programme offers Work Placement module for students wishing to gain experience in teaching production, recording, editing and mixing, using the facilities of SARC (Sonic Arts Research Centre). Each year several students are involved as TA to JAM 4, and take it as invaluable opportunity to enrich their degree.

Global Opportunities

Students may opt to spend a semester or a year studying abroad. The School has links with a number of international institutions including Sibelius Academy (University of the Arts Helsinki), University of Groningen, Escola Superior de Música e Artes do Espetáculo do Porto (Instituto Politecnico do Porto), Université Française Rabelais Tours, National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, and Technological Educational Institute of Crete.

CAREERS/FURTHER STUDY

Companies currently employing our graduates include Google, BBC, UTV, Apple, BT, Rapid 7, Sensum, Mogeas Ltd, Storyful, Cased Dimensions, Universitat Pompeu Fabra, Stevens Institute of Technology and Queen's University Belfast.

Further study including Master's programmes is also an option. Please see the School website for more information.

“I have just finished my final year studying the BSc Audio Engineering at Queen's. The course has provided a perfect balance of engineering and arts modules throughout the duration of the three years, with excellent facilities and equipment for both. The staff at Queen's are second to none in terms of not only their teaching, but also their enthusiasm, knowledge, approachability, and student support. There were also opportunities to attend lectures taken by industry professionals such as Julian Parker, Principal DSP Designer of Native Instruments. I am looking forward to the prospect of future study at Queen's next year.”

BROADCAST PRODUCTION

Broadcast Production at Queen's combines digital media production with theory and critical thinking in a practical, industry-aware degree. The programme was designed in collaboration with BBC Northern Ireland and other local broadcasters for students interested in careers in television, web, radio, journalism, podcasting, interactive video, 360 video and other new and emerging digital media platforms.

Students will acquire advanced knowledge and skills in video and audio production, scripting, directing, cinematography and editing, as well as developing their understanding of broadcast and moving and the wider media landscape.

Working alongside leading industry professionals, students benefit from our cutting-edge digital production facilities including offline and online editing suites, on-site TV and radio studios, high-definition cameras, and lighting and grip kits for location work.

Whether you want to be in front of the microphone, behind the camera, or at the mixing desk, you will gain substantial practical skills supported by the key theoretical and critical skills essential for graduates entering the creative industries.

COURSE CONTENT

WHY QUEEN'S?

Industry Links

It is an exciting time to get involved in broadcast and media production. Northern Ireland has one of the fastest-growing creative sectors in the UK economy. Broadcast production for entertainment, documentary, news and current affairs is a huge part of the industry here. Our students are trained by tutors who are actively involved in the media industry. Additional guest appearances from media professionals at lectures and special events offer invaluable opportunities for industry insights and networking.

Broadcast at Queen's has close links with a range of media and broadcast organisations and companies including BBC Northern Ireland, RTE, UTV, the Royal Television Society, Page 3 of 6 the Belfast Media Festival, the Belfast Film Festival, Northern Ireland Screen and the Digital Cities Belfast initiative.

Work Placement

Broadcast at Queen's maintains strong industry partnerships with local media and arts companies and organisations who offer work placement opportunities for our students. Our students have completed placements at many of the local broadcasters and independent production companies including Channel 4, BBC NI, STV, DAZN, Big Telly and Stellify.

Global Opportunities

Students have the opportunity to study at one of our international partner institutions.

World-Class Facilities

Students have access to our Television Studio, Radio Studio and Surround Sound mixing studios, as well as the Sonic Lab - a unique immersive media theatre at the Sonic Arts Research Centre. For studio and on-location project work, students operate our broadcast-quality 4K cameras, 360 VR cameras, a range of microphones, LED lighting, green screen and VR headsets. Our Apple iMac computer labs host media industry software Avid Media Composer, DaVinci Resolve, Premiere Pro and Avid Pro Tools.

Student Experience

Students can participate in two radio stations on campus - Queen's Radio and SARC Radio. Our students are consistently successful in the Irish SMEDIA awards. Belfast is the creative hub of the Northern Irish media industry and students on this programme will contribute to the vibrant mediascape of both the University and the wider city. As an Avid Authorised Learning Partner, our students can gain industry-approved certification for Pro Tools and Avid Media Composer software.

CAREERS/FURTHER STUDY

A degree in Broadcast Production gives students a distinct advantage as they enter the creative industries and the wider work place. Students on the course build up a portfolio of practical work to share with potential employers. New skills in digital media production, writing, presenting, online distribution and social media are highly sought after by employers and provide an excellent background for work in media and broadcasting, as well as wider fields of communications, education and the arts. The Year 3 Work Placement is a key opportunity to build industry connections.

Recent graduates have gone on to enter the media industry immediately following graduation, including:

- Aimee Bell (BBC Northern Ireland)
- Scott Duffield (STV - Scotland)
- Alison Totten (Stellify)
- Kera Reyes (Channel 4)
- Jane McWilliams (DAZN)

Further study at Master's and doctoral levels is also an option. See the School website for more information on the MA in Media and Broadcast Production, and Media and Broadcast PhD programmes (including practice-based research).

“If you're looking to gain real industry insight and enhance your practical skill set in radio and television then this course is for you. The lecturers are creative, supportive, enthusiastic and dedicated to helping you see your visions come to life. The facilities are great and you're provided with everything you will need to complete your projects. My time at Queen's helped me grow in my confidence, my knowledge and my passion for creating media content - I will forever be grateful and look back on the fond memories of my time spent there.”

DRAMA STUDIES

Drama at Queen's combines history, theory and practice in an integrated and multidisciplinary approach, to discover why and how theatre works. Performance workshops and productions enable students to draw upon their reading of literary, cultural, historical and sociological studies to inform their practical understanding of performance. Students are also required to attend professional performances, and benefit from our exceptional links with the theatre sector in Northern Ireland and beyond. Visiting professionals lead workshops in specialist areas.

WHY QUEEN'S?

Industry Links

Students have the opportunity to undertake a work placement in Year 3. This is a significant learning and employability enhancement opportunity. Drama at Queen's has unparalleled links with the local theatre sector and collaborates extensively with leading arts organisations and theatre companies, such as the Lyric Theatre, Prime Cut Productions, Kabosh, Tinderbox and Bruiser theatre companies as well as Belfast Festival and the Linen Hall Library, all of whom have helped us develop a vital professional practice dimension as part of our overall provision.

World-Class Facilities

Our main teaching space, the Brian Friel Theatre (www.brianfrieltheatre.co.uk), is one of the best-equipped theatres in Belfast with a 120-seat studio theatre, rehearsal room, dressing rooms, green room and workshop, housed in the Drama and Film Centre which also comprises the Queen's Film Theatre.

Student Experience

Extracurricular performance opportunities are offered by the Tyrone Guthrie Society and the student Drama Society, which have taken productions to student festivals in Ireland and the UK. Productions have also been taken to the Edinburgh Fringe Festival and to festivals in Belgium and Italy.

Global Opportunities

Students may opt to spend a semester studying abroad. The School has links with a number of international institutions including University of Carolina, Université François-Rabelais, Tours and National University of Ireland, Galway.

(QS WORLD UNIVERSITY RANKING 2022)

CAREERS/FURTHER STUDY

Studying for a Drama degree at Queen's will assist you in developing the core skills and employment-related experiences that are valued by employers, professional organisations and academic institutions.

Graduates from this degree are well regarded by many employers and over half of all graduate jobs are now open to graduates of any discipline. Many students also apply the skills they develop through the degree entrepreneurially to create their own work opportunities and the University runs a number of extracurricular programmes in entrepreneurship.

Although the majority of our graduates are interested in pursuing careers in the theatre or in teaching, significant numbers develop careers in a wide range of other sectors. Graduates of Drama have gone on to work in professional theatre locally, nationally, and internationally, for example on the production of the recent JK Rowling play Harry Potter and the Cursed Child on both the West End and Broadway, and on a number of film and TV productions including Game of Thrones.

Further Study

Further postgraduate study in Drama is available as students can continue to our MRes programme, which can be tailored to students' particular interests, and will involve a combination of guided study and independent research. The MRes can lead onto a PhD programme - research specialisms of individual staff are available from the School website. Both MRes and PhD study can be research-lead or in a form of practice-as-research.

Alumni Success

- Des Kennedy, assistant director, Harry Potter and the Cursed Child, Palace Theatre London
- Lisa McGee, stage and screen writer, won the Stewart Parker and Blackburn Award for Girls and Dolls (2006), Channel 4 sitcoms London Irish and Derry Girls
- Kerri Quinn, lead role in Educating Rita, Lyric Theatre, Belfast and Coronation Street.

“With a strong network support of staff, the opportunities to establish links with theatre practitioners greatly enriched my experience of studying Drama at Queen's.”

WHY QUEEN'S?

Industry Links

We regularly consult and develop links with a large number of employers including, for example, BBC Northern Ireland as part of our work-based learning initiatives. Several History modules include links with local collaborative partners, which provide students with opportunities to network with experts in the field or to gain experience of particular industries prior to graduation.

Internships have also been developed to allow students the opportunity to carry out work experience in history-related fields.

Student Experience

From Personal Tutors to peer mentoring, we work closely with students to ensure they are supported at every stage of their degree.

A thriving cultural scene organised by our undergraduate and postgraduate communities, from the English Society and Poetry and Pints to the Lifeboat and the Yellow Nib, makes studying English at Queen's a unique proposition.

Students can work with our visiting Fulbright Scholars, leading US academics who spend a semester at Queen's each year.

With DegreePlus, students have the opportunity to burnish their academic achievements with employment-facing placements and projects.

CAREERS/FURTHER STUDY

Studying for an English and History degree at Queen's will assist you in developing the core skills and employment-related experiences that are valued by employers, professional organisations and academic institutions. A good degree in English and History is a guarantee that the holder can analyse subjects in depth and develop coherent arguments in written and verbal form. In addition, the subject matter studied is always related to a wide range of contemporary issues, which allows graduates to understand the present in its proper perspective. Graduates from this degree at Queen's are well regarded by many employers (local, national and international) and over half of all graduate jobs are now open to graduates of any discipline.

In a context where over half of all graduate jobs are now open to graduates of any discipline, we have found that employers of all kinds wish to employ English and History graduates. Although many of our graduates are interested in pursuing careers in teaching, business, the civil service, translating/interpreting or advertising, significant numbers develop careers in a wide range of other sectors.

A list of the major career sectors (and some starting salaries) that have attracted our graduates in recent years is shown below:

- Advertising
- Librarianship
- Voluntary sector/charities (£15,000-£18,000)

"I've had the chance to study such a breadth of prose, poetry and drama across all sorts of periods under some of the most fantastic lecturers. Probably my favourite aspect of studying at Queen's is the community and friends that I've made within English. From being able to attend my lecturers' research seminars to peer mentoring first years, it feels like a (fantastically literary) family and I feel I couldn't have made a better choice."

WHY QUEEN'S?

Global Opportunities

Students taking a BA in French undertake an extended period of residence abroad (typically eight months), normally working as an assistant in a school or undertaking a paid work placement in a French-speaking country. Students can also elect to study at a French-speaking university. In addition to the benefits for oral competence, the residence provides a unique opportunity for immersion in French and Francophone culture. Moreover, the Year Abroad is a significant learning and employability enhancement opportunity. This feature of our degree programme gives students the opportunity for personal development, and further develops communication and language skills and intercultural awareness. The challenges of living abroad are a unique and unforgettable stage in your personal development.

World-Class Facilities

Queen's has an excellent library with an outstanding range of resources in French and Francophone cultures. The Language Centre has state-of-the-art facilities for language learning, and the IT provision more generally is excellent.

Internationally Renowned Experts

French at Queen's is taught by world-leading experts in nineteenth and twentieth-century French and Francophone culture, with particular expertise in visual culture, linguistics, popular culture, medical humanities and postcolonial writing. Research in Languages at Queen's was ranked 3rd in the UK in the most recent Research Assessment (Times Higher Education rankings based on the Research Excellence Framework).

Student Experience

Students run a lively French Society and staff offer support through a personal tutoring system, skills development programme and a structured framework for feedback.

Prizes and Awards

There are a number of undergraduate prizes available to top-performing students on this pathway. In addition to Foundation Scholarships recognising outstanding achievement in Stage 1, we have a range of endowed prizes. The AN Troughton Award and The Samuel and Sarah Ferguson Travel Prize recognise academic achievement at Stages 1 and 2. The Chris Shorley Prize rewards the best performances in the Language exam in Stage 3, and the Richard Bales Prize is awarded to the student with the highest mark in an optional module in Stage 3. Students receive a certificate of distinction for first class performance in the Stage 3 oral.

CAREERS/FURTHER STUDY

This is a course that offers and prepares students for local and global opportunities. The degree incorporates transferable and employable skills to prepare students for future careers. Typical careers pursued by our graduates include business, media and communications, marketing, advertising, publishing, education/teaching, translation/interpreting, PR, journalism, tourism, Fast Stream Civil Service, and banking. Graduates are particularly in demand in careers requiring a high stage of communication and presentation skills, as well as strong critical and analytical thinking.

95% of our graduates are in employment or further study within six months of graduation. Starting salaries are in the region of £21,800. They are employed in a range of organisations, from the BBC and UTV to the Civil Service, from the Irish News to the European Parliament, and including a very wide range of local, national and international companies.

Employer Links – Consultations

We regularly consult and develop links with a large number of employers including, for example, Santander and the British Council.

Placement Employers

Our past students have gained work placements with a variety of businesses and organisations, including the British Council Assistantships.

Further Study

Further study is also an option open to French graduates. Students can continue to our MRes programme, which will be tailored to a student's particular interests, and will involve a combination of guided study and independent research. It is a research preparation degree, allowing students to explore in depth a topic of their choice. It is an ideal preparation for PhD research. Other postgraduate programmes of possible interest for graduates of French include the MA in Arts Management and the MA in Translation.

WHY QUEEN'S?

Global Opportunities

Students taking a BA in French and Spanish have a very genuine opportunity to acquire professional experience in a global context. They undertake an extended period of residence abroad in a French- or Spanish-speaking country (typically eight months), normally working as an English language assistant in a school, or undertaking a paid work placement (previous students have gone to France and Spain, but also for example Mexico, Canada and Martinique). Students can also elect to study at a French- or Spanish-speaking university. In addition to the benefits for oral competence, the residence provides a unique opportunity for immersion in one of the cultures of the languages studied. Moreover, the Year Abroad is a significant learning and employability enhancement opportunity.

Students in Languages at Queen's have specialised classes to prepare them for the Year Abroad and members of our staff act as Year Abroad Officers.

Industry Links

Graduates of French and Spanish have risen to the top in a number of fields, including media, journalism, translating, marketing, local government, Fast Stream Civil Service, and a very wide range of local, national and international businesses and organisations.

World-Class Facilities

Queen's has an excellent library with an outstanding range of resources in French and Spanish cultures. The Language Centre has state-of-the-art facilities for language learning, and the IT provision more generally is excellent.

Student Experience

Students run lively French and Spanish Societies, and staff offer support through a personal tutoring system, skills development programme and a structured framework for feedback.

CAREERS/FURTHER STUDY

Typical careers pursued by our graduates include business, media and communications, marketing, translation, publishing, education/teaching, translation/interpreting, PR, journalism, fast stream Civil Service, tourism and banking. Graduates are particularly in demand in careers requiring a high level of communication and presentation skills, as well as strong critical and analytical thinking.

88 per cent of our graduates are in employment or further study within six months of graduation. Starting salaries are in the region of £21,800. They are employed in a range of organisations, from the BBC and UTV to the Civil Service, from the Irish News to the European Parliament, and including a very wide range of local, national and international companies.

We regularly consult and develop links with a large number of employers including, for example, Santander and the British Council.

Our past students have also gained work placements with organisations such as the British Council Assistantships Programme and with Citibank.

Further Study

Further study is also an option open to graduates of French and Spanish. Students can continue to our MRes programme, which will be tailored to a student's particular interests, and will involve a combination of guided study and independent research. The MRes can lead on to a PhD programme – research specialisms of individual staff are available on the School website. Other postgraduate courses of possible interest for graduates of French and Spanish include the MA in Arts Management and the MA in Translation.

IRISH

Irish at Queen's focuses on the modern language and culture. Language modules examine core aspects of written and spoken Irish, covering subjects such as syntax, phonetics and semantics. A range of optional modules provide you with a broad understanding of diverse aspects of Irish culture, society and identity. These include film studies, studies in Irish translation, language and rights, modern poetry, Irish linguistics, and the short story. The growth of Gaelic identity is also explored and insight into the country's wider heritage is developed through the study of mythology, folklore and Scottish Gaelic. All our students spend an extended period in the Gaeltacht each summer as part of our residential course. Final-year students can also avail of work internships in an Irish-language setting.

LIBERAL ARTS

Liberal Arts at Queen's is a unique, exciting and challenging programme that will allow students to immerse themselves in the study of arts and humanities subjects that are vital to understanding our twenty-first-century world. Through innovative disciplinary as well as interdisciplinary study, students explore a range of contemporary issues within a programme that allows students the flexibility to pursue an emphasis on discipline specialism or in broader, thematic interests that are cross-disciplinary in nature.

COURSE CONTENT

Please note that the precise modules offered as options may vary from year to year and may be subject to prerequisites

Stage 1

Students take six modules: Understanding Now; one interdisciplinary module; two modules from their pathway; and a further two optional modules. The list of optional modules will, subject to relevant A-level or equivalent prerequisites (e.g. for Language and Music modules) comprise all interdisciplinary and pathway modules and other modules offered as part of the Single Honours programmes in pathway subjects.

At the end of Stage 1, students nominate their pathway in: Anthropology, Archaeology, Drama, Economics, English, French, Film, Geography, History, International Studies, Irish, Music, Philosophy, Politics, Portuguese and Spanish; alternatively, they can design a thematic pathway, e.g., Migration, Gender, Race, Sustainability, American Studies, European Studies.

Stage 2

Students take: Uses of the Past; one interdisciplinary module; three modules from their pathway; and a further optional module. In addition they will take a Placement preparation module ahead of the Stage 3 Placement module.

Stage 3

Students take: Arts and Humanities in Contemporary Society; the Placement module; and one module from their pathway in Semester 1. Semester 2 is spent studying abroad at one of our international university partners.

Stage 4

Students take: Incorrigibly Plural; the Dissertation module; and a minimum of one module in their pathway with two further modules either from their pathway or from optional modules. The pathway and optional modules will be drawn from the taught modules offered on the relevant MA programme(s).

WHY QUEEN'S?

We offer a flexible Liberal Arts experience that includes specific work placement and study abroad modules, in addition to wider support for internships.

Placement Opportunities

Students have placement opportunities with leading regional, UK and international employers in both the public and private sectors, e.g. PwC.

Study Abroad Opportunities

Liberal Arts at Queen's offers a range of Study Abroad opportunities with university partners across the world.

CAREERS/FURTHER STUDY

Queen's graduates enjoy successful careers in publishing, public relations, advertising, journalism, broadcasting, law, theatre, management consultancy, the diplomatic service, tourism, policy analysis, charities and non-government organisations.

They include two Nobel Laureates – Seamus Heaney for poetry and David Trimble for his contribution to the Northern Ireland peace process.

Other notable alumni include Mike Brown (Commissioner of Transport for London); Stephen Rea (actor); Lucia McAnespie (actor, RADA-trained); Paul Muldoon (academic and poet); Cat Barter (actor and singer trained in the Royal Academy of Music); Anne Kelly (journalist and writer); Des Kennedy (theatre director, Royal Court Theatre); Annie Mac (radio presenter); Stephen Agnew (Green Party Leader); Marcella Walsh (singer, Scottish Opera).

Further study is also an option open to our graduates. Students can choose from a wide range of taught Master's programmes as well as the MRes in Arts and Humanities.

See the School's website for further information.

Studying for a Liberal Arts degree at Queen's will assist you in developing the core skills and employment-related experiences that are valued by employers, professional organisations and academic institutions.

Graduates from this degree at Queen's are in demand by local, national and international employers. With over half of all graduate jobs now attracting graduates of any discipline, employers value the initiative, imagination, creativity and independence of thought fostered by the Liberal Arts degree. These are high-achieving graduates, with a diverse and multidisciplinary skill-set, who are attuned to the demands of twenty-first-century society, and can provide flexible and innovative responses to global challenges.

"The course is well run and it is easy for me to choose the modules I like. The Liberal Arts module itself 'Understanding Now' is insightful. The different teachers that come in from the various faculties made the module so unique and open minded. I can honestly say that the module has positively changed my way of thinking."

the elegant, historical Music building; and the world-leading Sonic Arts Research Centre (SARC). SARC contains the unique Sonic Lab, a concert hall with variable acoustics and facilities for immersion in 360-degree sound. The Music building houses the Harty Room, a concert hall that is regularly used for public performances. The department also houses state-of-the-art recording studios (for both 'pop' and 'classical' music), plus studios for surround sound and post production. There are also a large number of practice rooms, including three acoustically isolated rooms, and three suites of iMac computers.

Industry Links

The School benefits from strong industry partnerships including BBC NI, Ulster Orchestra, Opera NI, Hard Rain Soloist Ensemble, Cathedral Arts Festival and Moving on Music.

Internationally Renowned Experts

Many of our staff are leading international experts in their fields of research. Additionally, the School employs a number of Industry Fellows, internationally renowned professionals in their fields of composition, performance, songwriting, sound engineering and music production.

Professional Training

The School is an Avid Learning Partner and Avid-accredited courses in Pro Tools for music and audio production are embedded into the curriculum.

Student Experience

Northern Ireland has an exceptional track record for producing outstanding musical talent and has a unique identity within the global music industry. Belfast is the creative hub of the Northern Irish music industry and students on this programme will contribute to the vibrant musical life of both the University and the wider city.

Global Opportunities

Students may opt to spend a semester or a year studying abroad. The School has links with a number of international institutions including Sibelius Academy (University of the Arts Helsinki), University of Groningen, Escola Superior de Música e Artes do Espetáculo do Porto (Instituto Politecnico do Porto), Université Française Rabelais Tours, National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, and Technological Educational Institute of Crete

Work Placements

The Stage 3 Work Placement module is an excellent opportunity for students to gain real-world employment experience. Some of the organisations our students have completed placements with include The Mac, Crescent Arts Centre, Belfast Music Society, Fleming Fulton Special Needs School.

At Queen's Junior Music Academy (JAM) there is a Work Placement module option. The module offers in-house training workshops, mentoring, discussions, teaching involvement, concert management, as well as an insight into the complex administration, management and timetabling required in large music schools. This module is beneficial for any student who will at some stage teach instrument lessons (individual or group) as a freelance career option or in a school context.

CAREERS/FURTHER STUDY

The programme prepares students for a wide range of possible career paths and graduates in Music at Queen's have found success throughout the UK and internationally in both musical and non-musical careers including orchestral playing, opera singing, solo artist careers, performance, composition, teaching, media employment and arts administration. Others regularly move into a wide range of graduate employments such as accountancy, banking, publishing and marketing.

Further study including Master's programmes is also an option. Please see the School website for more information.

MUSIC AND AUDIO PRODUCTION

The Music and Audio Production programme is designed for musicians from a wide range of musical backgrounds interested in the production of musical content in both the recording studio and live performance environments.

Students will gain practical knowledge and experience of recording, editing, mixing and mastering music using professional studio facilities. Working alongside leading music industry professionals students will gain additional sound engineering experience in a sound reinforcement context and develop musical practice in composition, general musicianship and (optionally) musical performance.

COURSE CONTENT

At Stage 1 students develop their musical practice in the areas of composition, critical listening and improvisation in addition to gaining a thorough grounding in sound recording principles and practical experience of audio mixing and sound synthesis. Students also explore the range of musical practices ranging from mass market music to the 'classical' tradition and its contemporary proliferation.

Modules include (*indicates core module):

- Sound Recording and Production*
- Audio Mixing*
- Composition 1b (Sonic Arts)*
- Introduction to Music*
- Fundamentals of Sound*
- Introduction to Film Studies
- Composition 1a (Instrumental Composition)
- Being Creative
- Solo Performance
- Ensemble Performance

At Stage 2 students develop recording and production skills working alongside their peers on the BA Music Performance programme. Students work together to create repertoire suitable for multitrack studio recording and this content is recorded, edited and mixed to broadcast standard. Optional modules are available in areas such as song writing, sound design, sonic arts, radio production, instrument and installation design, performance or improvisation.

Modules include (*indicates core module)

- Experimental Popular Musics*
- Sound Recording and Production*
- Song Writing*
- Live Production Systems
- Sound Design for Screen
- Interactive Sensing Systems
- Radio and Podcast Production
- Sonic Arts
- Instrument and Installation Design
- Interactive Media Production
- Radical Musics
- Improvisation
- Composition
- Classical Analysis
- Music Psychology
- Fame
- Notation and Transcription
- Solo Performance
- Ensemble Performance

At Stage 3 students continue to develop sound recording and production skills focusing on stereo microphone techniques for recording acoustic ensembles. Students can opt to take modules in spatial audio mixing, designing musical interactions, sonic arts, composing for film and television, or undertake a work placement. The programme concludes with the completion of a project focusing on an aspect of professional practice in audio production.

The School is one of the largest and best-equipped institutions in the UK working in the field of music and sound. Students on the BA in Music and Audio Production have access to state-of-the-art audio resources including two dedicated computer suites, 10 sound studios and the world's first Sonic Laboratory – a unique performance space capable of three-dimensional sound projection.

Industry Links

The School benefits from strong industry partnerships including BBC NI, Ulster Orchestra, Opera NI, Hard Rain Soloist Ensemble, Cathedral Arts Festival, Moving on Music, Diatribe Records, DTS and Dolby.

Internationally Renowned Experts

Many of our staff are leading international experts in their fields of research. Additionally, the School employs a number of Industry Fellows – internationally renowned professionals in their fields of composition, performance, songwriting, sound engineering and music production.

Professional Training

The School is an Avid Learning Partner and Avid-accredited courses in Pro Tools for music and audio production are embedded into the curriculum.

Student Experience

Northern Ireland has an exceptional track record for producing outstanding musical talent and has a unique identity within the global music industry. Belfast is the creative hub of the Northern Irish music industry and students on this programme will contribute to the vibrant musical life of both the University and the wider city.

Global Opportunities

Students may opt to spend a semester or a year studying abroad. The School has links with a number of international institutions including Sibelius Academy (University of the Arts Helsinki), University of Groningen, Escola Superior de Música e Artes do Espetáculo do Porto (Instituto Politécnico do Porto), Université Français Rabelais Tours, National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, and Technological Educational Institute of Crete.

Work Placements

The Stage 3 Work Based Learning module is an excellent opportunity for students to gain real-world industry experience. Some of the organisations with which our students have completed placements include The Mac, Crescent Arts Centre, Production House, Start Together Studios, Redbox Recording, Smalltown America Studios, Blast Furnace Studios, Sonic Visuals, Earthmusic, and Glasgowbury Music Hub.

JAM 4 (Junior Academy of Music) Creative Music Technology programme offers Work Placement module for students wishing to gain experience in teaching production, recording, editing and mixing, using the facilities of SARC (Sonic Arts Research Centre). Each year several students are involved as TA to JAM 4, and take it as invaluable opportunity to enrich their degree.

CAREERS/FURTHER STUDY

Companies and institutions currently employing our graduates include the BBC, UTV, Weller Media Agency, Start Together Studios, PSAV, The Mac, Pi Communications, The Nerve Centre, Stevens Institute of Technology and Queen's University Belfast.

Further study including Master's programmes is also an option. Please see the School website for more information.

“The course has been designed by people who know the industry, the teaching is of a standard that would rival any academical institution, and the overall experience for an enthusiastic student is one of detailed learning and rapid development, before being set loose in the world of work. The biggest attraction for me to study at Queen's was the quality of facilities on offer. From day one, lecturers took an interest in my progression. My personal tutor was never too busy to offer advice or review a piece of work, and especially when it has come to considering potential employment opportunities. I will always look back with gratitude for my time spent at Queen's.”

CAREERS/FURTHER STUDY

The programme prepares students for a wide range of possible career paths and graduates from Music degrees at Queen's have found success throughout the UK and internationally in both musical and non-musical careers including orchestral playing, opera singing, solo artist careers, performance, composition, teaching, media employment and arts administration.

Further study including Master's programmes is also an option. Please see the School website for more information.

“No matter where your interests or expertise lie in music, there is something for you here at Queen's. From your first day, you will be able to explore your passions, and discover new ones, with the wide variety of modules that are offered, and be guided every step of the way by the incredible staff, and industry professionals. When I applied, I was worried that as a drummer with limited musical theory knowledge, I may fall behind or struggle, but this was definitely not the case. In my three years here, I have studied my instrument, learnt how to play new instruments, learnt how to record, mix and master audio, developed performance skills, improved my musicianship, and found new passions for film composing and songwriting, among many other things! There is a unique pathway for everyone to find, and with help from the amazing community of staff, students and professionals here, you never know where that journey will take you next.”

SPANISH AND PORTUGUESE STUDIES

Spanish and Portuguese is an integrated degree which enables students to gain an in-depth knowledge of two major world languages, and the modules on offer reflect the diversity of cultures in Spanish and Portuguese-speaking countries across the globe. All students follow modules in Spanish and in Portuguese language which are of a broadly communicative nature, focusing on contemporary Spanish/Hispanic and Lusophone social and cultural issues and drawing on authentic materials. The degree takes four years to complete and includes a compulsory residency in a Spanish- and a Portuguese-speaking country.

COURSE CONTENT

Stage 1

Students are required to take one core language module in each subject area, the Introduction to Lusophone Studies optional module, and either Introduction to Iberian Studies or Introduction to Latin American Studies optional module in the relevant semester.

Core Modules

- Spanish 1 double module
- OR
- Spanish for Beginners double module
- And
- Portuguese 1 double module

Sample Optional Modules

- Introduction to Lusophone Studies
- Introduction to Latin American Studies

Stage 2

Students are required to take one core language module in each subject area plus two optional modules in the relevant semesters. The Portuguese modules are specially designed for students studying Portuguese and the level has been 'pitched' linguistically to reflect the ab initio access point of entry. Students on this pathway are, therefore, strongly advised to take the Portuguese optional module.

Core Modules

- Spanish 2 double module
- Portuguese 2 double module

Sample Optional Modules

- Issues and Cultures of the US-Mexico Borderlands
- Afterlives: Rogues and Mystics of the Spanish Golden Age
- Configurations of the Brazilian City
- Spanish Memoirs and Autobiographies
- The Fantastic in Latin America

Year Abroad Modules

- Working and Studying Abroad
- International Placement

Stage 3

Students are required to take one core language module in each subject area plus two optional modules in the relevant semesters. The Portuguese modules are specially designed for students studying Portuguese. Students on this pathway are, therefore, strongly advised to take the Portuguese optional module.

Queen's University Belfast is committed to providing a range of international opportunities to its students during their degree programme. Details of this provision are currently being finalised and will be available from the University website once confirmed.

WHY QUEEN'S?

Global Opportunities

This pathway affords significant opportunities for professional development and training in a global context. After stage 2, you will spend an academic year working or studying in a Spanish and Portuguese-speaking country. Students have the possibility of acquiring valuable professional experience by teaching in a school, undertaking a work placement, or doing voluntary work; they may also elect to study at a Spanish/Latin American and a Brazilian/Portuguese university.

Industry Links

Graduates of Spanish and Portuguese have risen to the top in a number of fields, including media, print journalism, translating, marketing, local government, Fast Stream Civil Service, and a very wide range of local, national and international companies.

IBERIAN LANGUAGES AT QUEEN'S ARE 5TH IN THE UK
(Times and Sunday Times Good University Guide 2022)

World-Class Facilities

Queen's has an excellent library with an outstanding range of resources in Spanish and Portuguese. The Language Centre has state-of-the-art facilities for languages learning, and the IT provision more generally is excellent.

Internationally Renowned Experts

Spanish and Portuguese at Queen's has world-leading experts in Spanish/Latin American and Brazilian/Portuguese-speaking African literatures and cultures.

Student Experience

Students run a lively Spanish and Portuguese Society, and staff offer support through a personal tutoring system, skills development programme and a structured framework for feedback.

CAREERS/FURTHER STUDY

Careers

Graduates from this degree at Queen's are well regarded by many employers (local, national and international) and over half of all graduate jobs are now open to graduates of any discipline.

Typical careers pursued by graduates in Spanish and Portuguese can include media and communications, publishing, advertising, education/teaching, translation/interpreting, journalism, PR, Fast Stream Civil Service, tourism and banking. Graduates are particularly in demand in careers requiring a high level of communication and presentation skills, as well as strong critical and analytical thinking.

Employer Links

We regularly consult and develop links with a large number of employers including, for example, Santander and the British Council, who provide sponsorship for our Year Abroad placements as well as Rolls Royce, PwC and Moy Park/MARFRIG who are members of the employer liaison panel for the course.

Further Study

Further study is also an option open to graduates of Spanish and Portuguese. Students can continue to our MRes programme, which will be tailored to a student's particular interests, and will involve a combination of guided study and independent research. The MRes can lead on to a PhD programme.

“Equal time is dedicated to both languages and to time spent in both countries. The highlight of my degree was studying at the University of São Paulo in Brazil during my year abroad. Being able to study at a top Latin American university, in an amazing city with incredible people has been invaluable both to my language skills, and my cultural awareness of a fascinating country.”

The latest UK Research Excellence Framework 2021 revealed that over 95% of Queen's research environment was assessed as world-leading or internationally excellent, and the University's research strengths are reflected in the quality of our teaching.

WORLD-CLASS CAMPUS

Queen's has one of the most modern campuses in the UK, including the award winning McClay Library, one of the finest libraries in the world and home to 1.2 million volumes and 2,000 reader places. Other highlights include our new-look Students' Union, the state-of-the-art Physical Education Centre – used as a training camp for the 2012 Olympics. Queen's Elms Student Village or the brand new city centre accommodation Elms BT1 and Elms BT2 are located within easy walking distance of the University.
