

TRANSLATION FOR KEY STAGE 3

FRENCH WORKBOOK II

Pupil name: _____

Teacher: _____

Chris Jardine
NICILT, Queen's University Belfast

Table of Contents

Table of Contents.....	1
About the author	2
Preface	2
Translation Top Tip Tweets.....	3
Translation Worksheets	5
Direct Translation – French to English	5
Exercise 1	5
Exercise 2	6
Exercise 3	7
Exercise 4	8
Exercise 5	8
Exercise 6	9
Exercise 7	9
Exercise 8	10
Exercise 9	11
Exercise 10	11
Inverse Translation – English to French	12
Exercise 1	12
Exercise 2	12
Exercise 3	13
Exercise 4	14
Exercise 5	15
Exercise 6	16
Exercise 7	16
Exercise 8	17
Exercise 9	18
Exercise 10	19

About the author

Chris Jardine is an MA French & Spanish student at the University of Edinburgh. Following a year studying at ISIT International School (Paris) and at the Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona, he is on work placement at the Northern Ireland Centre for Information on Language Teaching and Research (NICILT) at Queen's University Belfast.

Preface

This workbook was made following curriculum changes that added translation to GCSE Modern Languages. It is designed to support teachers as they start teaching translation at the earlier stage of Key Stage 3. The workbook contains exercises for both direct (French-English) and inverse (English-French) translation. The exercises of each section get progressively more difficult, with more challenging vocabulary and grammar.

This workbook is designed with Year 9/Year 10 pupils in mind and is based on the Allez 2 textbook, while Workbook I is based on Allez 1. They should, however, be compatible with an array of different textbooks.

Some exercises are accompanied by “Des Phrases Utiles”, which provide support for more challenging vocabulary, as well as some words and phrases that may be specific to the Allez series. The “Pour En Savoir Davantage” sections are intended to make students think in more depth about French, the structures they are using, as well as some translation issues.

Chris Jardine
August 2017

Translation Top Tip Tweets

Translating into English should be easier - you're able to tell naturally if what you've written is grammatically correct!

• Traducir del inglés

17:20 - 6 ago. 2017

Before starting to translate, read the original a few times to make sure you understand it. You can't translate it without understanding it!

• Traducir del inglés

17:21 - 6 ago. 2017

Translation is more about conveying ideas than individual words. Literal translations rarely work!

• Traducir del inglés

17:22 - 6 ago. 2017

In French you use different structures and tenses than in English. E.g.: "je mange" can mean "I eat" or "I am eating". Context is important!

• Traducir del inglés

17:23 - 6 ago. 2017

Translating is a great way to revise and learn new grammar and vocab. Take a note of new words - you never know when they'll crop up again!

• Traducir del inglés

17:23 - 6 ago. 2017

When translating into English, re-read what you've written. It should read as though it was originally written in English.

• Traducir del inglés

17:24 - 6 ago. 2017

Translating into French is trickier - it'll be harder to spot mistakes you make. (But understanding the original should be easier!)

Traducir del inglés

17:25 - 6 ago. 2017

When translating into French, check things that you don't need to check in English, like past participle agreements.

Traducir del inglés

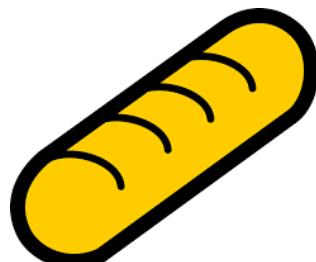

17:27 - 6 ago. 2017

Remember that word order is different in French: "a blue car" would be "une voiture bleue".

Traducir del inglés

19:04 - 6 ago. 2017

When translating into French it might be tempting to make up words (you might do it by accident!). It's good to check when guessing words.

Traducir del inglés

17:27 - 6 ago. 2017

Sometimes re-reading your translation a few hours later can be helpful - a fresh perspective can help you spot mistakes.

Traducir del inglés

18:59 - 6 ago. 2017

Translation isn't as hard as you think - you often do it in your head when reading in French. It's only a matter of writing it down!

Traducir del inglés

23:47 - 8 ago. 2017

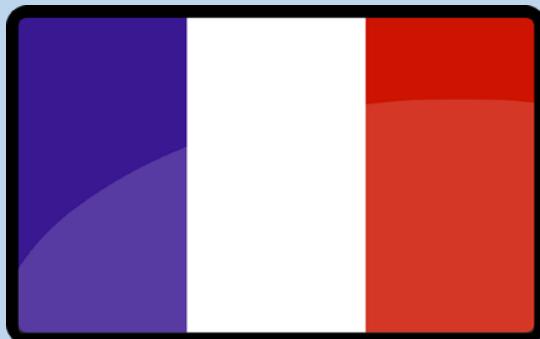

Translation Worksheets

Direct Translation – French to English

Exercise 1

This is a poster about France and Paris. Can you translate it into English?

La France

- La France est une république avec un président.
- On utilise l'euro.
- Il y a beaucoup de fleuves. La plus grande est la Seine.
- Il y a aussi des montagnes. Le plus haut sommet de la France est le mont Blanc.

- Paris est la plus grande ville de la France.
- Normalement, on ne porte pas d'uniforme à l'école.
- On roule à droite.
- En France, il y a chaque année une compétition cycliste, qui s'appelle « Le Tour de France ».

DES PHRASES UTILES

Un fleuve

A river

Un sommet

Summit/peak

Cycliste

cycling

Exercise 2

This is an interview with a physicist from a French newspaper. Can you translate it for its English edition?

Entretien avec Anne Fischer, une physicienne française

Comment vous appelez-vous et vous faites quel travail ?

Moi, je m'appelle Anne Fischer et je suis physicienne et chercheuse. Je travaille dans une université française.

Vous parlez d'autres langues ?

Je parle le français, bien sûr. Mon père vient de Munich, donc je parle l'allemand avec mes grands-parents allemands. Je parle aussi un peu de polonais.

Qu'est-ce que vous aimez regarder à la télé ?

À la télé, j'aime regarder les documentaires, je les trouve très intéressants.

J'aime aussi les comédies. En revanche, je déteste les émissions de télé-réalité. Je les trouve nulles !

Qu'est-ce que tu aimes lire ?

J'aime beaucoup lire. Je préfère la littérature non-romanesque, comme les autobiographies, mais j'aime aussi les romans historiques.

Anne dans son laboratoire

DES PHRASES UTILES

Physicien(ne)

Physicist

Chercheur(euse)

Researcher

Nul(le)

Rubbish

Non-romanesque

Non-fiction

Exercise 3

This is a WhatsApp message from your French friend. He has just bought a new phone. Can you translate the message into English?

DES PHRASES UTILES

Un écran tactile

A touch screen

Un appel vidéo

A video call

Un SMS

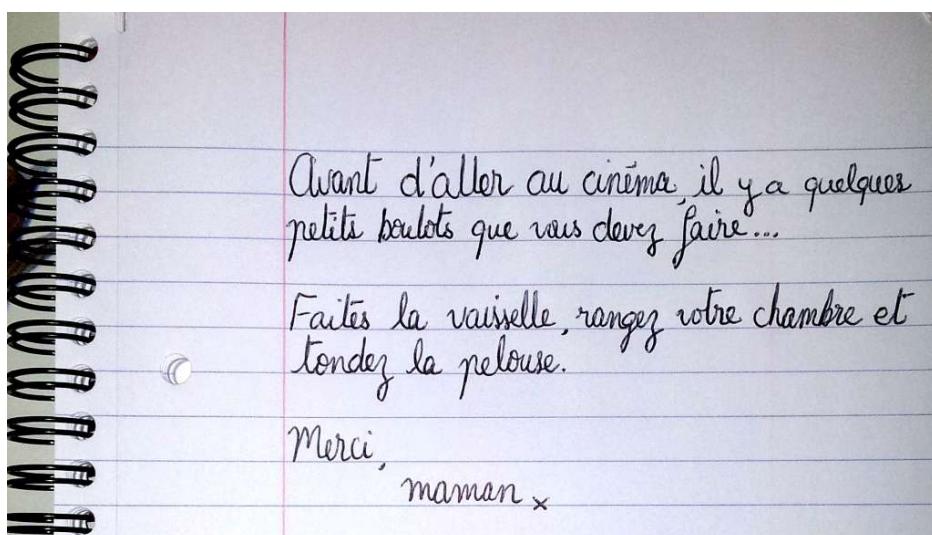

A text

POUR EN SAVOIR DAVANTAGE

- When words in different languages are similar because they have the same root, they are called "cognates". With your knowledge of English, can you guess what "cyberdépendant" means?
- Sometimes, however, words that look similar to words in English can have different meanings in French. These are called false friends. Can you think of any you've seen?

Exercise 4

You're in France with your French exchange partner. His mum has left a note for the pair of you; can you translate it into English?

Exercise 5

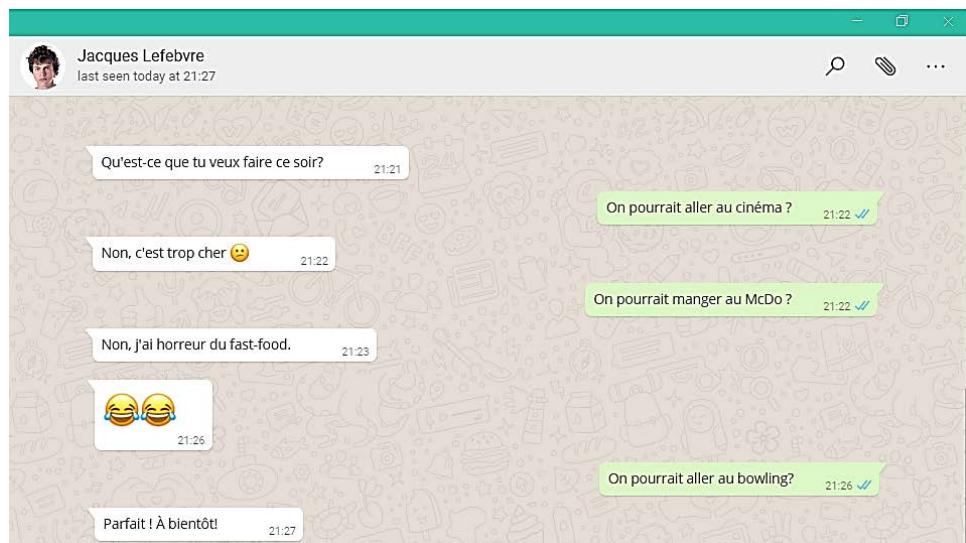

Your friend has made a list of his New Year's Resolutions; can you translate them into English?

Mes bonnes résolutions

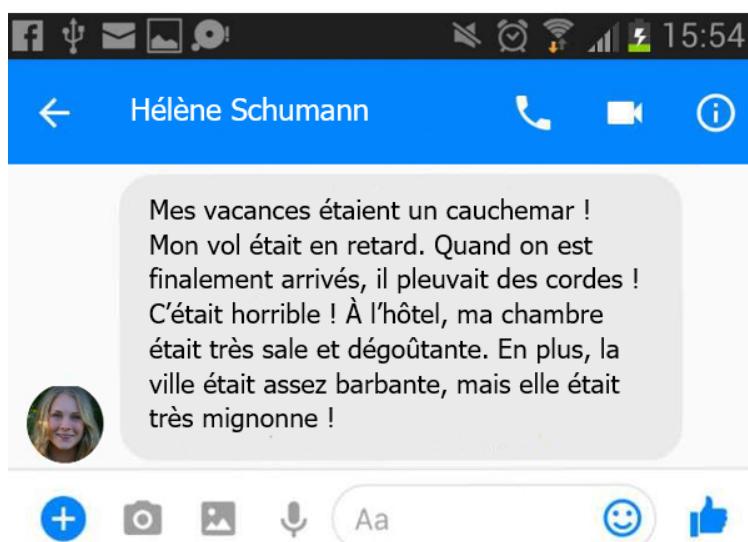

- Je vais faire plus de sport
- Je vais lire plus de livres
- Je vais manger cinq fruits et légumes par jour
- Je vais boire plus d'eau
- Je vais dormir huit heures par nuit
- Je vais manger moins de fast-food (c'est trop gras !)

Exercise 6

You've been texting back and forth with your French friend; can you translate the messages into English?

Exercise 7

Your friend has just sent you a Facebook message about their horrible holiday experiences; can you translate it into English?

DES PHRASES UTILES*Un cauchemarA nightmarePleuvoir des cordesTo rain cats and dogs(literally) to rain ropesBarbant(e)boring*

Exercise 8

You asked your friend what kind of house he'd buy if they had enough money; can you translate their response?

The screenshot shows a mobile application interface. At the top, there's a blue header bar with the text "DES PHRASES UTILES". Below this, on the left, is a blue sidebar containing the French phrase "Gagner à la loterie" and its English translation "To win the lottery". The main area is a messaging screen. At the top of the message list, there's a contact card for "Alain Moreau" with a yellow envelope icon. The message body contains a French text message from Alain Moreau: "Moi, si j'étais riche, j'achèterais une maison énorme ! Pour acheter une maison énorme, il faut gagner à la loterie ou avoir un emploi très, très bien payé. J'aimerais habiter à la montagne. Habiter en ville, c'est trop bruyant pour moi !" (Me, if I were rich, I would buy a huge house ! To buy a huge house, you have to win the lottery or have a very, very well-paid job. I would like to live in the mountains. Living in the city, it's too noisy for me!). At the bottom of the screen, there's a text input field with the placeholder "Enter message" and a small paperclip icon.

POUR EN SAVOIR DAVANTAGE

1. How would you say “living in the countryside is too quiet for me”?

 2. Do you remember the name of the tense “j’étais” is in?

 3. Do you remember the name of the tense “j’achèterais” is in?

 4. Have you noticed that in French, the position of question marks (?) and exclamation marks (!) are different? What do they do differently than in English?

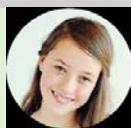

Exercise 9

You overhear your French friends talking about jobs; can you translate what they're saying into English?

Quels métiers font tes parents ?

Mon père est journaliste et ma mère est professeur de langues vivantes.

Des métiers très intéressants !

Oui ! Et toi, quel métier fait ta mère ?

Ma mère est infirmière – c'est un métier qui est très stressant.

J'imagine !

Exercise 10

Here is a job advertisement in a French newspaper; can you translate it into English?

Offre d'emploi: guide touristique

La Musée d'histoire cherche un nouveau guide touristique.

Il faut adorer l'histoire, être créatif(ve) et aimer le contact avec les gens. C'est un travail à temps plein. Un très bon niveau de français et anglais est souhaité.

Inverse Translation – English to French

Exercise 1

Joanne is talking about where she comes from; can you translate for your French pen pal?

Hello! My name is Joanne and I come from the Isle of Man. It is a little island in the Irish Sea. Here, we use the Manx pound, but you can also use pound sterling. We speak English, but we also speak a regional language called "Manx".

DES PHRASES UTILES

Isle of Man

L'Île de Man

The Irish Sea

La mer d'Irlande

Manx pound / pound sterling

La livre mannoise/ la livre sterling

Manx

Le mannois

Exercise 2

Paul is talking about reading; can you translate what he's saying into French?

I am a bookworm! I love reading fiction and non-fiction. I prefer reading historical novels, but I also like horror novels. I find newspapers and encyclopaedias very interesting too! It is said that young people don't like reading, but I find it very entertaining.

DES PHRASES UTILES

Bookworm

Un rat de bibliothèque

Horror novel

Un roman d'horreur

Encyclopaedia

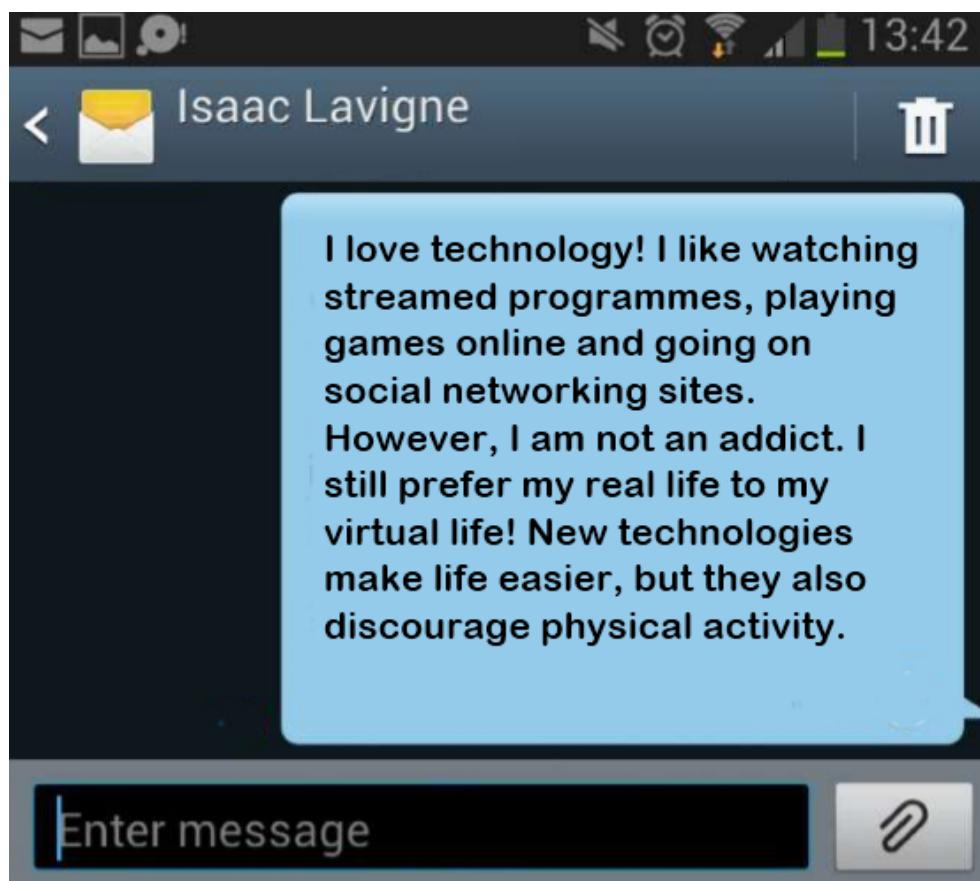

Une encyclopédie

It is said that...

On dit que...

Exercise 3

You want to send a text to your French friend, Isaac Lavigne, about your love of technology. You've written a draft in English, can you translate it into French?

DES PHRASES UTILES

Streamed programmes

Des émissions en streaming

Online

En ligne

Social networking sites

Les réseaux sociaux

An addict

Un accro

Virtual

Virtuel(l)e

To discourage physical activity

Décourager l'activité physique

Exercise 4

Your friend has just uploaded a new Facebook status. Can you translate it so that your French pen pal can understand it?

John Porter

9 June ·

My parents are so strict, they treat me like a baby! I have to help at home, tidy my room and mow the lawn! I don't receive pocket money. I want to buy a new games console, but I can't put money aside. They put too much pressure on me, it stresses me. ☺ ☹

Like

Comment

Share

You and 12 others

Write a comment...

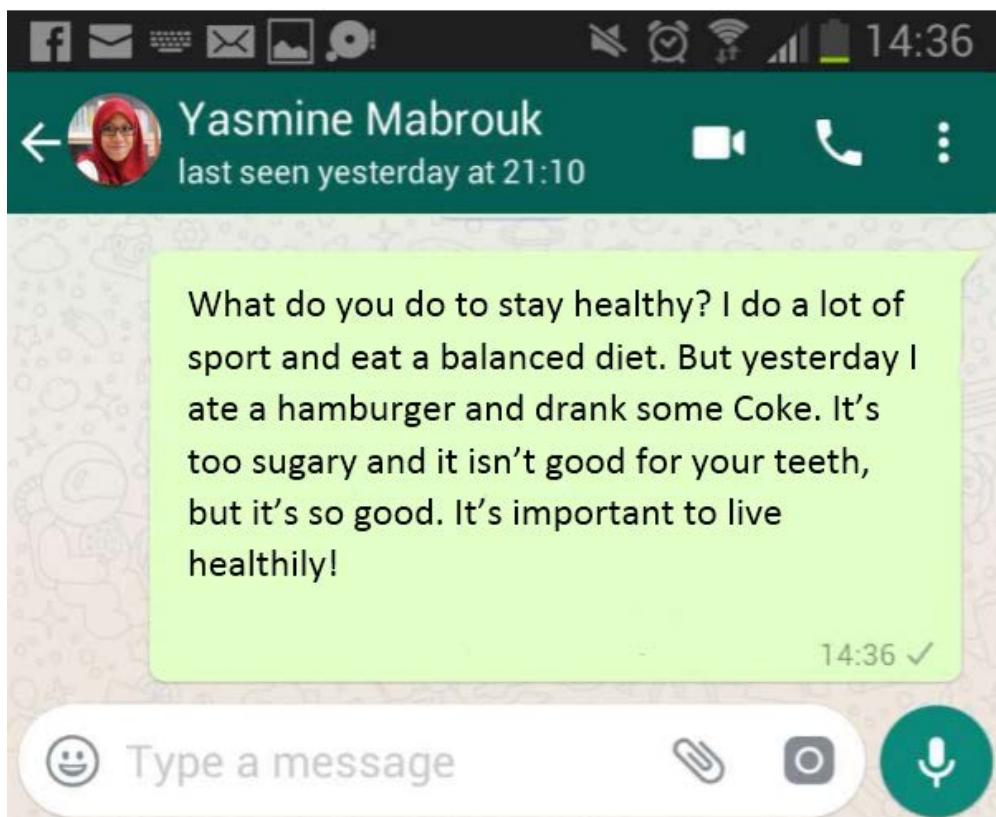

DES PHRASES UTILES

They treat me like a baby*Ils me traitent comme un bébéTo tidyRangerTo mow the lawnTondre la pelouseTo put money asideMettre de l'argent à côtéThey put too much pressure on meIls me mettent trop de pression*

Exercise 5

You've received a WhatsApp message from your French pen pal about living healthily, can you translate it into English?

DES PHRASES UTILES

To stay healthy

Rester en bonne forme

To eat a balanced diet

Manger équilibré

Sugary

Sucré(e)

To live healthily

Vivre sainement

Exercise 6

You've received a Facebook message from your French friend, can you translate it?

DES PHRASES UTILES

To celebrate
Célébrer

To download
Télécharger

It was too crowded
Il y avait trop de monde

I'm organising a party to celebrate Jean-Claude's birthday. I'm going to buy the food and drink and send the invitations. Can you download the music, please? I went to Arianne's party last night, we went to the cinema. It was too expensive and crowded, but we had fun!

Exercise 7

You are writing to your French pen pal about transport in your local area. This is a draft in English, can you translate it into French?

Dear Paul,

Yesterday I went to an interesting museum in Dublin. I took the train at 10:35 and I arrived at 12:40. The train costs £10. It is practical and eco-friendly. This summer, I am going to Greece with my family. We'll stay for a week and we'll go to the beach if it's sunny. What type of holiday do you prefer? When I'm eighteen, I'll go on an adventure holiday with my friends.

See you soon!

Emily

Exercise 8

Can you translate this Facebook status into French?

I love my new house! It's a semi-detached house in a small village. There are three bedrooms, I don't have my own room (I have to put up with my sister's bad habits :-P). If I were rich, I would build a swimming pool – I love swimming!

Like

Comment

Share

You and 12 others

DES PHRASES UTILES

Semi-detached house

Une maison jumelée

To put up with X's bad habits

Supporter les mauvaises habitudes de X

I would build

Je ferais construire

POUR EN SAVOIR DAVANTAGE

1. Céline has since got her own room, how would she say "I didn't have my own room (I had to put up with my sister's bad habits!"?

2. Did you know that "une maison jumelée" literally means "twinned houses"? Why do you think you use this expression in French for "semi-detached house"?

Exercise 9

This is an interview from an English-language newspaper. Can you translate it for the French edition?

An Interview with Sarah Dunbar, a vet

What job do you do?

I am a vet. It's a job that is fascinating and varied, but also very stressful. It also requires a lot of energy and patience.

When you were little what did you want to be?

When I was little, I wanted to be a doctor. I changed my mind because I love animals!

What would you do if you were rich?

If I won millions, I would organise parties for my friends and also set up centres for endangered animals.

Did you have a part-time job when you were younger?

When I was younger, I was a life guard in a municipal swimming pool, it was great! I was also a waitress in a little café.

Sarah in her veterinary clinic

DES PHRASES UTILES

A vet

Un vétérinaire

To require

Demander

To change your mind

Changer d'avis

To set up centres for endangered animals

Créer des centres pour les animaux en danger

Life guard

Un maître-nageur

Waiter/waitress

Un serveur/une serveuse

A veterinary clinic

une clinique vétérinaire

Exercise 10

Hayley is talking about sharing a room with her sister; can you translate for your French friend?

I live in a big house, but I also have a big family! I have to share my room with my sister, Isla. It is sometimes difficult, but I like it because it brings you together and you have fun. You are never alone!

DES PHRASES UTILES

It brings you together

Ça rapproche

Never

Jamais

Alone

seul

POUR EN SAVOIR DAVANTAGE

1. “Always” in French is “toujours”; what do you think “you are always alone” would be in French?
2. Adverbs are words that modify the meaning of adjectives, verbs or other adverbs. Can you write down the adverbs you see in Hayley’s passage?