Campus closure on Friday, 24 January

Dear Colleagues,

We have taken the decision to close the university campus tomorrow (Friday, 24 January) in response to the red weather warning of wind in place across Northern Ireland. The strong winds associated with Storm Éowyn are expected to cause very dangerous conditions, widespread disruption and significant impacts.

All work and teaching delivery arrangements will move online where possible.

Arrangements in your School or area will be communicated locally. Some colleagues will continue to work on campus to carry out crucial roles, delivering and supporting essential services. For those colleagues, I would ask you to discuss any impact this may have with your line manager and agree your arrangements for tomorrow as soon as possible.

As always, ensuring the safety and wellbeing of our people is our first priority and the closure will help minimise the risk to our students and staff.

Best wishes,

Alistair Finlay
Interim Vice-President and Chief People Officer
